Easter Air Travel Hit by Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call for a nationwide air controllers walkout threatened today to disrupt airline service during the busy Easter weekend and force a showdown with the Federal Aviation Administration.

The FAA sent out telegrams to absent air controllers warning that "prompt action" would be taken within 24 hours if they failed o obey a court order and return to work.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey, executive director of PATCO, the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, Thursday night called for the walkout, saying "The issue is no longer fatigue by traffic controllers but safety."

At 8:30 a.m., EST, the FAA said preliminary figures from the agency's 11 air traffic control centers in the east and midwest showed a total of 259 controllers absent.

A spokesman said this was nine more than the total recorded Thursday. The agency has 10 other centers in the west and far west.

An FAA spokesman said absent workers would be considered in contempt of court if they continued the slowdown and sick-call action that began Wednesday.

Bailey accused the FAA of waiving qualifications of controllers in order to replace absent workers during the slowdown. He said he is urging the walkout until that action is rescinded.

Responding to Bailey's statement, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association, representing the airline industry, said the FAA has had in effect since Tuesday special procedures "to ensure the continued safe and orderly flow of air traffic."

The industry's nationwide communications system is used to provide airline operating centers with latest information on routings, delays and air traffic capacity, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for PATCO said the call applied to approximately 8,500 controllers nationwide. The controllers are the men who serve as traffic cops in airline travel.

PATCO claims to represent half the nation's 14,000 controllers.

The FAA declined comment on Bailey's call, issued on the heels of a two-day slowdown and sick-call action by air controllers. Despite the controllers' demonstration, travel Thursday was slow, but possible.

Bailey said the FAA "now proposes to use rusty old men who are completely out of touch with current requirements." In view of the agency's attitude, he said, "I don't want to even talk to them."

He suggested the only way to get dissident controllers and the government together would be through a middle man—and he said the Labor Department would fill the requirement.

The FAA had no immediate comment on Bailey's statement.

Bailey also said the present slowdown is not caused by a rivalry among competing organizations.

The statement referred to FAA and Transportation Department assertions that competition by rival organizations is a major cause of the absenteeism which has slowed air traffic at major airports.

Although the current dispute centers on the transfer issue PATCO controllers have complained for years they are overworked, undermanned, underpaid and lack modern equipment.

PATCO suffered a setback Thursday when U.S. District Judge E. Gordon West in Baton Rouge refused to prohibit the transfers of the controllers, saying there is no reason for interfering with the FAA decision.

Earlier Thursday, Bailey told newsmen he had instructed chapters everywhere to obey a federal court injunction against a strike. But h said the government cannot require controllers to work if they are fatigued.

The absentee rate Thursday was not as great as the day before in flight control centers across the nation, leading to an accompanying reduction in cancellations and flight delays.

But in New York, a key area, Eastern Air Lines canceled its shuttle service linking Washington, D.C. and Boston with New York and Boston Thursday night.

At New York airports, giant jetliners were stalled on the ground in large numbers, and the longest delays were on flights bound for the West, Southwest and Southeast. The tieup caused numerous flight cancellations.

The FAA disagreed sharply with PATCO on the strike's effectiveness. FAA administrator John H. Shaffer said only 17 per cent of controllers reported sick Wednesday and 14 per cent Thursday. He said not a single facility was closed.

Meantime, the National Transportation Safety Board proposed a rule under which controllers would be barred from swapping work shifts, a move designed to prevent fatigue.

County Does Well With Budget Funds

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

The passing of the state's fiscal budget Thursday was good news for Ulster County residents.

Included were:

- $1 million for Lake Minnewaska which will automatically keep the property off the auction block.
- $3,200,000 "extra" in funds for the county's 10 school districts.
- $425,000 for snow making equipment for Belleayre Ski Center.
- $975,000 for continued development of Wilson (Wittenberg) State Park, Woodstock.
- $115,000 for land acquisition and development of a marina at Bristol Beach, Saugerties.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell phoned the news to Kingston saying "Ulster County did very well this year" in securing appropriations for the five programs. He said he hopes "all the projects will pan out as well as they have been planned."

The $1 billion for Minnewaska marks a year's work on the part of Bell and State Sen. Jay P. Rolison to secure state funds for a state park at the site. "This is truly one of the most beautiful areas in the state and steps must be taken to protect and preserve it," Bell said.

The assemblyman said he and Rolison "had to fight constantly to guard against the appropriation's deletion from the budget for reappropriation for other state purposes."

New York State's largest budget in history had the final stamp of approval from the GOP dominated legislaure despite seven hours of protests from minority Democrats. Story on page 3.

The property, presently owned by Kenneth Phillips of New Paltz, was due to go on the auction block May 1. A $3 million foreclosure action was brought against Phillips by County National Bank, Newburgh. It is anticipated that further state appropriations will be sought next year.

The $3.2 million in state aid to education for Ulster County's 10 school districts means there will be "no cuts" said Bell. "On the contrary the new extra aid will help maintain high quality education and hold down local real estate taxes," he concluded.

Saying the battle over school aid had been "hard and long", Bell said there had been a possibility of substantial cuts which could have affected local real property taxes. The matter was not resolved until late Wednesday night when a compromise plan was agreed upon.

The $425,000 appropriation for snow-making equipment for Belleayre Mountain Ski Center will increase the length of the skiing season in Ulster County, Bell explained. An aide to the economic life of the county, the project is expected to bring more people to the area, increasing tourism, and business for hotels, motels, restaurants and sports equipment stores.

The $975,000 for further development of the Kenneth L. Wilson Park in Woodstock, named for the former Ulster County Assemblyman, means that the project, begun several years ago will be continued.

It has on several occasions been halted due to lack of anticipated funds.

The park is planned for a multi-use recreation area with fishing, camping, swimming, hiking and golfing facilities.

The state aid to the project is in addition to a federal grant offered by the Land and Water Conservation Fund of the Department of the Interior.

Securing the money this year for Wittenberg is especially significant in view of the fact that just about a year ago the status of the project money was in grave doubt with state conservation officials saying the possibility of obtaining even $800,000 were remote."

The $115,000 for Bristol Beach in Saugerties will be used for acquisition of land and the construction of a marina at the site.

The recreation area at the beach was planned in 1967 by a State Department of Fish and Game architect. When completed the 73-acre site will be the only state beach located along the Hudson River.

The major portion of the property was deeded to the state by Terry Staples.

Israelis Down 5 More Egypt Jets

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli pilots shot down five Egyptian MIG21s today in dogfights over Port Suez, at the southern end of the Suez Canal, the Israeli military command announced.

It was the second major aerial victory reported by Israel in three days and the biggest bag of Egyptian planes claimed by Israel's pilots in more than six months.

On Wednesday, the Israelis claimed they downed four MIG 21s in dogfights over the northern part of the canal. Egypt denied any losses.

Today's report brought to 85 the total number of Egyptian planes the Israelis claim to have shot down since the 1967 Middle East war.

All Israeli planes returned safely today, an Israeli spokesman said. He made the same report after the dogfights Wednesday, when the Egyptians claimed they shot down one plane.

Pounding Egyptian positions along the canal night and day, the Israeli jets crossed the canal at 9 a.m. today to bomb "military targets" at the southern end of the waterway and along the northern coast of the Gulf of Suez, the spokesman said.

Egypt's Soviet-supplied jets challenged the raiders 20 minutes after they began their bomb runs. The air battle lasted five minutes, the spokesman said, and the Israeli pilots continued their bombing attacks afterward.

During the night, Israeli planes bombed and strafed artillery and antiaircraft posts and other military targets in the central and southern sectors of the canal for two hours, the command said. Once again it reported no planes lost.

Earlier Thursday, an Egyptian raiding party crossed the Suez and ambushed an Israeli army patrol, killing one soldier and wounding three, according to the Israelis. But Egypt claimed 15 Israelis had been killed and three trucks destroyed. Neither side mentioned Egyptian casualties.

In Beirut, fighting raged Thursday between Arab guerrillas and members of the rightist Christian Falangist party for the second day in a row, bringing the death toll in Lebanon's latest political crisis to 19 dead and 50 wounded.

Although the army and police for the most part stood off from the fighting, one policeman was killed and seven were wounded.

High-level contacts were being made between the government and the guerrillas in an attempt to prevent the fighting from developing into a civil war.

Peace between the Arab and Christian populations, which are about evenly divided, is vital to the delicate political balance in Lebanon. The Falangists are a tightly disciplined, well armed private army regarded as the backbone of militant elements in Lebanon's Christian community.

The chief of the Palestine Liberation Army in Lebanon, Conolen Abdul Razak Yahia, charged the U.S. Embassy in Beirut with providing arms and money to the Falangists.

In New York, Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring wound up more than two weeks of talks as U.N. special representative for the Middle East and headed back to his regular diplomatic post in Moscow. Diplomats at U.N. headquarters said he had nothing to transmit to the Israelis and Arabs because the U.N. delegates from the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France had been unable to agree in their talks on any guidelines for the adversaries.

City Investment Broker Faces Larceny and Check Charges

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Arrested at Kennedy Airport by State Police BCI officers on a warrant charging second degree grand larceny in connection with an $11,000 stock transaction, 39-year-old Rudolph T. Turck, an investment broker, of 430 Pearl Street, today was also booked on a charge of issuing a fraudulent $13,533 check.

Turck was taken into custody today at the airport by BCI Investigators John F. Salters and Thomas Searles, shortly before he reportedly planned to board a plane for Switzerland.

The arrest last night was made on a warrant issued by Special City Judge George A. Beck, who fixed bail at $10,000.

According to an information filed by Investigator Salters, Turck allegedly appropriated $11,000 in U.S. currency belonging to William S. Keyser, county coroner and funeral director, to his own use on March 5. The information further noted that Turck obtained the $11,000 by trick embezzlement and by false pretense.

The check charge lodged today, was on complaint of George Dickman of Kerhonkson, an executor for an unidentified estate. Dickman contends that previously he had received a check from Turck for $15,000 and it was good, but a week ago Turck allegedly gave him a check for $13,533 and the check turned out to be "bad," authorities said.

Dickman noted that he had given Turck a week to make good for the $13,533 check drawn on the Kingston Trust Company, but the defendant allegedly didn't comply and the complaint was made today.

Francis Martocci and Richard W. Griggs appeared as attorneys for Turck at arraignment before Judge Beck at 10 a.m. Martocci waived the reading of the information and called for an immediate hearing on behalf of the accused broker.

Both counsel joined in a motion for a reduction of bail contending it was excessive.

"This defendant was not running away," Martocci contended. "He had a round trip ticket from Kingston to Europe and that is proof he planned to return here. There is very serious doubt this defendant committed a crime."

The attorney said that when Turck was arrested by State Police they searched him and found the round trip ticket and $400 in cash. Martocci contended that the district attorney knew that Turck was going to Europe.

Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney, voiced strong objection to reducing bail "because of the gravity of the offense."

After Turck was booked on the check count, Judge Beck ruled that the bail would continue at $10,000 bail covering both charges. In lieu of bail the defendant was remanded to jail where he had spent the night.

Bomb Scare Case Dismissed As Police Continue Probe

KINGSTON

Defense motions to dismiss a charge of falsely reporting an indicent — bomb scare — were granted today by Special City Judge George A. Beck, and the defendant, Mrs. Ruth Mary Schoonmaker, 22, of 37 Liberty Street, was released from custody.

The woman was arrested Thursday by detectives, accused of telephoning a false bomb threat to an employe at Kingston High School last Tuesday morning. Mrs. Schoonmaker had been free in $500 bail.

Elmor H. Nathan, attorney for the defendant, in his motion to dismiss the information, contended that the information was based on statements made by others and on "belief." He charged there was no evidence that Mrs. Schoonmaker had made the telephone call as charged.

Nathan pointed out that a security officer of the New York Telephone Company reportedly had traced the anonymous call to the Liberty Street address, but, he explained there are four extensions to the telephone in the house.

"It was a guess or a scheme on the part of the police," Nathan said. The attorney further contended that the People had failed to establish a prima facia case as he moved for the dismissal of the complaint.

Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney, appeared but offered no objection to the dismissal.

Judge Beck ruled that there was no evidence to identify the defendant with the crime, and he dismissed the complaint.

Meanwhile, detectives continued to work with State Police BCI in an attempt to clear up the recent rash of bomb scares at schools and industrial plants in the area.

Highland Low Income Housing

Approval Needed by Marlboro Board

By SHANE CROSBY

HIGHLAND — If all goes well for the Rev. Harley Taylor Monday, he expects to begin work on construction of 11 homes in the Hill Top Estates complex "immediately" with occupancy by the fall.

Scheduled to appear before the Marlboro Town Board Monday at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on his proposed low income minority housing plan, the Rev. Mr. Taylor who heads the Southern Ulster Migrant Assistance Committee (SUMAC), says approval by the town may mean the families will be in their homes by Thanksgiving Day.

Already, the Hill Top Estates plan has received the approval of the County Board of Health and the Marlboro Planning Board, said the Rev. Mr. Taylor, and Town Board approval would be "the last hurdle."

"I've got a bulldozer waiting," he said Thursday, "and we will start immediately" after town acceptance.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor purchased the land for the 11-home project in 1966 and said he has been seeking approval of his idea for the past two years.

Families have been signed up for the project and the Rev. Mr. Taylor noted that all 11 are "local people" who have been living in trailers as well as other types of quarters waiting for the project to open.

The only problem yet to be solved, and the main purpose for the hearing, is the reverend's request to extend the Marlboro Water District into his development. The Rev. Mr. Taylor said his engineers have gone over the water situation and have notified him that it would be safe to make the connection, with the water pressure expected to not be adversely affected.

Homes in the development would be of the "National Home" type, pre-fab composition that would be constructed under a Manpower Training program to bring untrained laborers into the building trades. Cooperation in the project has been received from the federal Farm Home Administration, as well as state and local agencies and groups.

In seeking approval of Hill Top Estates and his second project in Wallkill, the Rev. Mr. Taylor said he is attempting to "implement the Mid-Hudson Pattern For Progress that has said the Ulster County area covered by SUMAC requires 8,000 additional housing units a year.

His Wallkill project, known as "People's City," has been hit by a series of snags, due to what the reverend claims is "local prejudice." Currently, the Rev. Mr. Taylor is attempting to gain shawangunk Planning Board approval for 62 homes, but a debate over lot sizes has kept the project from becoming realized.

The town is asking that the lots be at least one acre each in size, while the Rev. Mr. Taylor says they have no legal position to make the lot size hold. In addition, he said, a taxpayers' group in Wallkill are calling for the increasing of the lot size to two acres. This the Mr. Taylor said, "is defeating the purpose that the government had in asking for the housing."

The reverend said 29 of the 62 lots are one-half acre, 31 are four-tenths of an acre, and the remaining two are "slightly over one-third acre. Taylor said no other town in the county asks for sub-division lots to be one or two acres, and adds that the Shawangunk demand is based on a "proposed" zoning requirement that has not been approved by the people or the town.

"We have people lined up" for the Wallkill homes, he said, "both white and colored." Noting that he also has federal and state support for People's City, he said two insurance companies have been reached to offer mortgages on the homes and he said "we have had a commitment to start to build on March 1."

The reverend said "most of the opposition to build People's City is not from Wallkill people." He said it is "from outsiders."

HOMELESS FAMILY — Area residents responded to appeals for clothing, furniture, cash and other items for the family of Richard L. Rowles, made homeless on March 20 when fire gutted their home at 17 Clinton Avenue. Two children died of burns. Rowles (seated at right) looks over part of the articles contributed by residents and businesses, at Fatum's garage on Clinton Avenue. "The response by residents and organizations is almost unbelievable," Rowles told a reporter. "We thank all who have been so kind." Mrs. Rowles is seated with youngest son, Brian, 4, on settee donated to the family. The other children, Cathy, 13, and Donna, 8, and Richard Jr., 7, check clothing. The Rowles' need an apartment or house in which to live. They also need bedroom furniture. Presently they are staying with the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Brauer, 27 West O'Reilly Street. Wilbur Matthews of Fatum's Ambulance Service is shown at left. His garage is used as the collection point for donations. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Bard's Women to March in Abortion Protest

By TIM SCHUSTER

ANNANDALE ON HUDSON — The newly formed Bard College segment of Womens' Liberation will participate in a nationally sponsored march in New York Saturday protesting present abortion laws.

The march is being organized by People Against Abortion Laws, will include numerous womens' rights groups and male sympathizers, and will ask for free abortion on demand. Marchers will meet at Bellevue Hospital at 23rd Street and 1st Avenue and march to Union Square.

Members of the Bard group spoke with The Freeman Thursday, giving objectives and opinions of Womens' Liberation. The local chapter has just become active this semester, and meets every Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Albee Hall social room.

Stated succinctly, Paula Lockard said that Womens' Liberation aims to place the emphasis on the individual, rather than what sex she happens to be. Those in attendance generally agreed that the sexual aspects of the female forwarded in such publication as "Playboy" and on Madison Avenue are doing women much harm.

While most agreed that sex was pleasurable in its correct context, they felt that it was being exploited and blown out of proportion by society in general.

Some concrete objectives the Bard women came out in favor of include: The public dissemination of birth control information at Bard, with expenses to come out of college health services. They said that the college refuses to allow finances for absences from campus due to miscarriages or abortions.

Womens' Liberation at Bard also said that there is discrimination at the college against female maids, as they are paid 40 cents an hour less than the janitors and have substantially the same duties.

Girls present argued that "feminine" traits are forced upon females from birth, and that the only true differences between male and female are biological.

This was illustrated by the story of a news reporter who asked little boys, after the moon landing, "Would you like to be an astronaut when you grow up?" and asked little girls, "Would you like to be married to an astronaut when you grow up?"

The girls advocated to The Freeman that the concept of "role playing" be abolished and a wider spectrum of choices be opened up to both men and women.

Methods of accomplishing these ambitious ends are often thwarted by women themselves, according to the girls. Some of the basic opposition to the ideas could be outlined as those women who don't want to be liberated and are happy with the status quo; those that think men are more adventuresome and intelligent and try to be like them; those who have personal objections to the "type" of women involved in Womens' Liberation; and those who think separation from men would ruin communications.

Some reference was made to the difference in opportunities and pay scale between male and female employes for the same duties. Most students present felt that reorganization of the family structure whereby man and woman share work and house duties was an answer to that problem, and several said they didn't believe in marriage at all, but would prefer to raise their children under a system similar to that used by several Scandinavian countries.

This reporter, being male, was not allowed into the meeting proper but spoke with the students afterwards in a congenial atmosphere. The girls asserted that males would not be allowed into meetings until the group had a chance to strengthen its collective consciousness and discover that women as individuals could be interesting and adventuresome.

A final question asked the students was, "Why don't any of the girls wear bras any more? Is it a question of comfort or a symbol of liberation?"

"Both of these reasons," answered spokeswoman Paula Lockard, "plus the fact that some girls think it looks sexy."

Largest in State's History

$7.14 Billion Budget Passes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —The largest state budget in history — $7.14 billion — had the final stamp of approval from the Republican dominated New York legislature today despite seven hours of protests from minority Democrats.

The Republicans rejected a series of Democratic amendments Thursday and then passed the slightly trimmed version of Governor Rockefeller's spending program which goes into effect next Wednesday.

Major budget bills were passed on nearly straight party line votes in the Senate and Assembly during seven hours of debate. Assemblymen Edwyn E. Mason, R-Hobart, and John T. Gallagher, R-Queens, joined the Democrats in opposing some of the spending legislation.

Democrats proposed more funds for narcotics addiction control, local police and education in their main amendments while also seeking to delete what they considered excessive costs for the South Mall office building complex in Albany.

The budget, geared to please election year voters, avoids any increase in state taxes, while raising spending close to $1 billion, including a $388 million jump in local school aid.

Democrats predicted, however, that last year's spending cuts, and what they termed Republican failure to meet the needs of the people would come back to haunt the GOP at the polls this fall.

"Sure there are no new state taxes in these bills," Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki said. "But you, by these meager appropriations, are forcing local taxes up by 20 per cent this year and don't think the people are going to forget that."

The Democratic amendments — which would have added more than $300 million to the budget if passed — would not have required any actual increase in existing taxes. They proposed balancing the budget through a tax reform program that included closing of loopholes in present law. Democrats say 7 per cent of the highest income wage earners in the state pay no taxes at all.

They also claimed that Rockefeller had seriously underestimated revenues for the coming year — and proposed $57 million of their own cuts. The Republican controlled fiscal committees had already trimmed the original $7.25 billion program by Rockefeller by $117 million.

All the Democratic proposals were defeated by voice vote, usually after up to an hour of debate.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges told Democrats that "We don't have a bottomless well in Albany to drain money out of." He noted there was a record increase in spending in the governor's budget and that the state was "doing all it can while constructively ordering our priorities."

Brydges labeled the Democrats' failure to support the main budget bills a "cop out" and said their "diatribe" was typical of "total fiscal irresponsibility."

The debate was not without its light moments. One came when the Senate was discussing an appropriation of $425,000 for purchase of snowmaking equipment at a state ski center.

"We don't need a snowmaking machine," Sen. Manfred Ohrenstein, D-Manhattan said. "The governor is already the best snow making machine in the state."

The budget passage was one of the easiest for legislative leaders and Governor Rockefeller in years. Normally Rockefeller is in his Albany office when the legislature acts on his spending programs and he has been known to stand in the rear of the chamber as debate nears an end.

This year he left for a Puerto Rican vacation two days before the debate took place.

Counterproposal For Postal Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has offered postal workers a counterproposal to their demands for a 12 per cent pay hike that a union spokesman today termed "a basis for negotiation."

Government and postal union representatives in seven hours of talks that recessed this morning at 1 a.m. struggled to hammer out an agreement that would satisfy Congress, the administration and the postal workers.

They agreed to resume the talks, which were described by the government as "friendly and businesslike," at 3:30 p. m. EST. Both sides refused to discuss details of the counterproposal and the union demands.

However, a union spoksman said the government's new proposal offered "a basis for negotiation" and a government spokesman said he was hopeful about the course of the talks which he indicated might last through the Easter weekend.

Predicts Early Agreement

Postmaster General Winston M. Blount earlier Thursday predicted agreement would be reached soon on a wage increase but he declined to set a time limit.

Blount met with President Nixon Thursday morning for 45 minutes on the postal negotiations before Nixon left for a holiday weekend at his Key Biscayne, Fla. home.

James H. Rademacher, president of the letter carriers union, has threatened a nationwide strike if talks do not produce progress—but not necessarily agreement — within five days.

However, a spokesman for all seven postal unions involved in the discussions said early this morning that the combined union delegation had no deadline for agreement on a pay increase.

Decline Comment

Both sides declined comment on whether any of the proposals on the table were linked to the thorny issue of postal reform.

On Capitol Hill, a House-Senate conference committee considering a postal pay measure broke up their talks to await outcome of the government-union negotiations.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said the Senate delegation to the conference insisted on the recess so their talks would not "warp or louse up the negotiations downtown."

He said conferees would remain on "standby," ready to assemble in 24 hours.

Christian Tourists Flock to Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Thousands of pilgrims flocked to Jerusalem today to commemorate the most solemn day in Christendom and to walk the path Jesus Christ took the day He was crucified.

If there was apprehension over the possibility of an Arab guerrilla attack, it had little effect on tourism this Good Friday. The Israeli Tourist Ministry said hotels were jammed.

A tourism spokesman said the 15,000 Christian tourists in Jerusalem for Holy Week was 25 per cent more than last year.

The Israeli Government posted soldiers and police along the Via Dolorosa, the route Jesus walked carrying the cross to calvary.

The historic pathway begins at a Moslem school that stands on the site of the praetorium of the judgment hall where Pontius Pilate, the Roman Governor, condemned Jesus to death.

The route ends at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the site of the cave where the body of Christ lay until the Easter Sunday Resurrection.

For centuries pilgrims, including priests, nuns, local Christians and visitors from throughout the world, have marched the route, pausing for prayers at each of the 14 Stations of the Cross.

The stations include locations where Jesus was forced to carry the cross, where He fell from its weight, where He encountered Veronica who mopped his brow, and where He told women who cried out at His suffering, "Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for Jerusalem and for your children."

The final stations are all inside the Church of the Holy Speulchre and the last one is over the spot where Jesus' body lay for three days until He rose from the dead.

Monitors of Arab radio stations reported hearing no threats against this year's Holy Week tourists in Israel in contrast to previous years since Israel captured Jerusalem's Old City in the 1967 Middle East War.

Landscaping Is Like Money in Bank

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Your home is your castle. We should take care of it on the outside as well as on the inside. No reason why you can't landscape your grounds yourself. Anything you do to enhance your home is like putting money in the bank. The way you doll up your home depends upon your own personal tastes. What looks good for some people looks bad for others. A point to keep in mind is this: don't follow a hit and miss method of planting. Take a piece of paper and draw a sketch of plants you want. If you have a shrub which as been for 40 years and is ugly, don't hesitate to yank it out and replace it, as you would a worn carpet. If you cannot afford to replace it, then cut the shrub back to the ground and let all the new growth come on.

Avoid tall shrubs in the foundation planting. Evergreen trees, spruce, pine and others planting. Incidentally, that cement foundation around your home isn't as ugly as you may think. It doesn't have to be masked with tight fitting shrubs. Unless it is unusually unsightly it should show through here and there. Space between shrubs is just as important as space between words and paragraphs in a page you are reading.

TREAT YOUR BIRCH TREES: If your birch trees lost their leaves last year due to the birch leaf miner, then chances are it will be back to bug your trees again this year. The birch leaf miner is a tiny pest that leads a sheltered life within the tissue of the leaves, and it's difficult to control it with sprays. This pest is present from May to October in overlapping generations. CONTROL: Systematcs are an answer for leaf miners. These can be sprinkled on in spring and watered in. One material (Cygon) applied as a soil drench will last all summer. It's a good idea to follow directions closely. See your garden center for the material. Incidentally, systemics are fine for controlling the spruce gall aphid, the pest that causes the brown, pineapple-shaped structures on the branches of spruce.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Please tell me if the hybrids are better than the old fashioned or regular tomato varieties. We want to plant some this year."

Answer: While the hybrid tomatoes are a great introduction, it does not mean that the open-pollinated or regular types are obsolete. Hybrids produce husky vines and the flavor is high-quality. While the hybrid seed and plants cost more, we believe the extra price is offset by yield and quality. Keep in mind that the perfromance of a variety is directly dependent upon the kind of care given it. No variety will perform well on an underfed or overfed soil.

Antiquing: An Old Technique Gets a Boost From New Kits

Antiquing as a method of refinishing old furniture (or unpainted furniture) is an old technique that is enjoying a new craze. Instead of assembling the various materials yourself, they are now assembled for you in special kits. Not only are all the materials included but you are furnished with extremely easy-to-follow instructions.

The big difference in antiquing is the use of an opaque base coat of paint. The grain is later simulated.

This is unlike the use of clear stains and varnishes where the original grain is allowed to show through.

Because of this difference it is not necessary to remove the original paint or varnish. The antique finish is applied right over the old finish and can also be used on metal, plaster, hardboard and other materials.

The kit offers the advantage of allowing the purchaser to know exactly what the finished result will be like. There is no mixing involved and a sample chart indicates the effect you will get.

The sets are designed to give you a wide range of two-color combinations or a natural looking wood-grain effect.

The kit will have at least two cans in it, sometimes three. The larger can will contain a base coat. This is opaque and is dull or satin finish. The base coat provides the proper color background. It can be white for an antique white look or it may be some deep color—blue, red, etc.

The second and smaller can contains a glaze coat. This is translucent and the base color will show through it. The color can be made to vary by wiping off more or less of the glaze. The total look of the finish can also be affected by wiping off more glaze in some areas, allowing more to remain in others.

In the woodtone kits there is sometimes a second can of glaze to apply after the first one is dry. This makes the wood-grain effect more realistic.

The base coat is brushed on and allowed to dry. Then the glaze is applied, also with a brush and while still wet it is wiped off with a piece of cheesecloth, also supplied. This leaves streaks of the glaze behind.

Steel wool also is sometimes used for a final wiping, but caution is required. Shake out the steel wool to remove the fine, loose particles in it. Otherwise these will remain behind and make the finish rough.

The new finish can be coated with varnish if an especially durable surface is required.

Surface preparation for antiquing is minimal. Old paint gloss. over with sandpaper or a surface conditioner will cut the and varnish need not be removed. It should, however, be Any surface should be clean and free of old wax, oil or dulled to provide tooth for the new base coat. A light going any other polish. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Hensonville Man Fined $250 for Altering Bill

TOWN OF ULSTER

Robert Mack Jr., 20, of Hensonville, pleaded guilty before Justice Arthur A. Reilly to altering U.S. currency yesterday, paid a $250 fine and was sentenced to six months in jail with a conditional discharge.

Mack was accused of taking the numerals 10 from one side of a $10 bill and pasting the 10 on two corners of a one dollar bill.

BCI Investigator David Wachtel said that Mack allegedly folded the bill and handed it to an attendant at the Hess Service Station on Albany Avenue Extension for purchase of gasoline on Jan. 2. The attendant reportedly thought it was a $10 bill and gave Mack change for it.

Judge Reilly said that Mack would serve the six months in jail if he is brought before the court on any other charge during the next six months in addition to being liable for any penalties for any subsequent violations of the law.

The judge also clarified his sentence of Gary William Brooks, 17, who pleaded guilty to phoning in a bomb threat to Saugerties High School.

Brooks paid a $100 fine and received a sentence of a year in jail. He was given a conditional discharge and could serve the sentence for any further violations.

Five Children Killed in Fire

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Five children, the eldest only five years old, died in a fire Thursday night at a tenement in Albany's Arbor Hill section.

The victims were identified as Bertha Burdette, 11 months, Patricia, 2, Peggy, 3, Jerry, 4, and Nancy, 5. They were the children of Leroy Burdette and Eloise Perry.

Firemen found the children's bodies in an upstairs bedroom while battling a blaze they first reported not to be serious. Only one alarm was turned in, but officials said the Burdette apartment on the top floor of the two-story building bore the brunt of the fire.

The scene of the fire was in a generally run-down section of Albany about nine blocks from the Capitol. Several other occupants of the building escaped without injury.

Two Charged With DWI

WAWARSING

Jack Brenno of the Nevele Hotel and Joseph O'Brien of Leurenkill Road, Ellenville, will appear for trial and sentencing, respectively, before Wawarsing Justice Maurice Rosenstock tonight on charges of driving while intoxicated.

According to Ellenville state police, Brenno was driving south on Route 209 at 2:10 a.m. this morning, when he lost control of his car and went off the road.

He suffered a bump on the forehead and was charged with driving while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty before Justice Rosenstock and will appear for trial tonight.

O'Brien was driving south on Route 209 a few minutes later and reportedly struck Brenno's overturned car. He was also arrested for driving while intoxicated and pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced tonight.

O'Brien suffered a lacerated nose. A passenger in his car, Louis D'Agistino, suffered lacerations to the face.

Judge Rosenstock, commenting on the rash of speeding and driving while intoxicated violations in the town, said that violators would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Marchi Scores Off-Track Bet Plan for City

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A proposal to legalize off - track betting, which had been offered as a way to help the financial ills of New York City, ran into a stumbling block Thursday as Sen. John Marchi registered opposition to the bill.

Marchi, a Republican from Staten Island, is head of the committee on New York City affairs and has considerable weight in deciding the future of the measure.

"As the bill stands, there are just too many unresolved areas," he said. "I would not be a party to it."

The proposal has been suggested for many years by New York City mayors as a method to add to city revenue.

The legislature has always rejected the proposal but this year Gov. Rockefeller hinted that it had a chance.

Marchi said he doubted that the city could cure the defects to his satisfaction this year.

Among other things, he said, only New York City would benefit and the measure might prompt other local governments to seek their own off-track betting programs.

The measure also raises problems with federal gambling taxes and conflicts with the state constitution, he said.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

The Easter story concerns a Body and a big boulder. The Body and the boulder disprove the grave is the eventual goal of life. When Christian people affirm the belief in the resurrection, they believe life is eternal; believe life is not a mere period of time in physical existence on earth.

When the Body was placed in a tomb behind a boulder, it was thought the boulder would bar entrance or removal. Those who thought that were wrong, just as those who think the grave is the end of life—are wrong. The boulder was not a barrier. Nor is the grave a gateway to dust. When He rose from the dead, He proved the boulder was —and the grave is—a doorway that opens from the darkness of death to the light of eternal life.

In John 11:26 a simple question is asked: "Believest thou this?" At Easter, we reaffirm this belief. Life would be more beautiful and a lot more meaningful if we would say every day, "Yes, I do believe."

Check H-Blast Cavern for Crust Collapse

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) —Scientists manned sophisticated monitoring devices today to determine if the earth's crust would collapse in a massive subterranean cavern carved out by one of the United States' largest underground nuclear explosions.

The Atomic Energy Commission, which conducted the test Thursday at 11 a.m. PST, will begin collecting scientific data immediately after the earth subsides.

Otherwise, scientists will have to wait a week before drilling in at a safe angle 1,000 feet from ground zero to gather preliminary data.

The underground cavern, large enough to hold Hoover Dam at 700 feet in diameter, was formed when a hydrogen weapon with a punch believed equivalent to 1.3 million tons of TNT was triggered.

The weapon was believed to be a warhead for a semi-orbital antimissile missile system.

The blast swayed buildings in several large Western cities 500 miles away and jiggled seismographs with earthquake-like readings of 6.5 from Waltham, Mass., to Honolulu.

The earth bulged skyward 15 feet as the thermonuclear explosion carved the massive underground chamber but scientists said all radiation was trapped inside. Tons of volcanic rock beneath the surface were instantly vaporized.

Executives of the Port Jervis Union-Gazette won a free trip to next year's convention.

Robbers Report

GENOA, Italy (UPI)—Two young holdup men sent the loot of a tobacco store robbery to a Roman Catholic priest. They said they held up the store with toy pistols to obtain money for a trip to Turin for a soccer game, but repented. The loot included $24 in cash and cigarettes.

Two Youths Injured in Motorcycle Mishap

ULSTER PARK

Two young men were injured Thursday when they were ejected from a motorcycle which hit one of a flock of 20 sheep on Union Center Road about 2.5 miles northwest of Hardenburgh Road.

George Freer, Jr., 19, of Box 362, Rt. 1, the driver, received abrasions to the hands and knees. The vehicle was damaged on the left front and the right side and front.

A passenger, William Boisvert of 98 Lawrenceville Rd., Rosendale, suffered abrasions to the knees. Both men said they would see their own physicians.

According to a report of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, the motorcycle was heading southeast on the Union center Road. After rounding a blind curve, it came upon the flock, striking one. The sheep are owned by Arnold Parodi of Box 343, Union Center Road, Ulster Park.

State Approves Bed Addition

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A 44-bed addition to Highland Hospital in Beacon has been authorized by the State Health Department for start of construction, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, commissioner, has announced.

The authorization was coupled with a $250,000 federal grant award toward construction costs of $1,117,038.

Cannon Partnership of Niagara Falls, project architect, said the work will include a new second floor over the existing central nursing unit. The 44 acute-care beds will bring the hospital's total capacity to 125 beds.

Slowdown Is Over

With the notable exceptions of stock market watchers and recently laid off workmen who swell the unemployment rate, few lay people had reason to know that there has been an economic slowdown for a number of weeks. So that it comes as a shock when a leading economist announces that the slowdown is over. It is over almost before it began.

Pierre Rinfret, who was an economic adviser to Richard M. Nixon in the 1968 campaign, states that the President is convinced that the 1960 recession was the major reason why he lost the election that year. He is determined not to allow a recession to begin in this election year.

The President's decision to restimulate the economy eft the Federal Reserve Board with a dilemma: if they didn't ease the monetary reins, the Treasury would increase its spending. Therefore, the Fed, rather than see an increase in Treasury spending, is easing up on its monetary polices under White House pressure.

"The administration has made a fundamental and basic decision on the economy," Rinfret said. "If monetary policy in the next three months were to stay as tight as it is now, the U.S. economy would go into a recession. To the President, that is politically unacceptable."

The President's actions support this thinking. Four weeks ago, he vetoed an education bill, as inflationary because it was $1.5 billion more than he wanted. Now he released $1.5 billion in construction projects that will stimulate $6 billion in spending. This was a fast change.

So federal spending has joined capital expenditures and rising consumer income as a force for expansion in the balance of 1970. We know President Nixon has pledged his administration to avoid a recession while at the same time they are cooling inflation. It is both good for the country and good politics for him to succeed.

The Domestic Council

Just as World War II revealed the gaps in the defense and foreign affairs policies of this government and led to the creation of the National Security Council, so the inflation and other domestic problems have revealed the gap in the social and economic planning. They have led President Nixon to propose two new arms of the President's Office to advise him on domestic policy and administration.

The proposed Domestic Council would give the President more control over domestic policy — inflation, the environment, civil rights, to name the most urgent presently. At the same time, a new Office of Management and Budget would broaden and absorb the Budget Bureau. It would assess the extent to which programs are actually achieving intended results and delivering intended services to intended recipients.

Just as members of the National Security Council are the Cabinet Secretaries concerned with defense and foreign affairs, so the members of the Domestic Council will be those Cabinet Secretaries concerned with domestic affairs. The President wil preside over both and the Vice President will be a member of both.

Each Cabinet officer would continue to exercise his powers as the executive in his own department. His influence would be felt through his membership and activities in the Domestic Council. But the Cabinet as a group will become less and less a consultative and advisory body, and will meet less frequently.

This reorganization automatically becomes law unless the house or the senate votes againlst the proposal within 60 days. They are not likely to object, because the need for expert advice in government is obvious and can strengthen the Presidency and its contribution to the country.

Owning Their Own Homes

On the theory that there's no comparison between the way people maintain their own homes and those they rent, the federal government has launched a plan to enable low-income residents of public housing to become homeowners. It is the most imaginative of the various methods used to house low-income people over the years.

Housing officials have become increasingly despondent over the growing physical deterioration of many public housing projects. They want to encourage the formation of tenants' associations which could then buy the housing and operate it on a cooperative basis and assume the management functions now exercised by local housing authorities.

Down payments would be eliminated and high value mortgages granted to make solid homeowners. The pride of homeownership would be counted on to trigger the change over to responsible caretakers.

A new word for the slow death of a city has been coined. It is called urbicide. For instance, automotive overkill is urbicide. So are highways which bring more cars into an already overcrowded city. Urbicide is a word that covers many meanings, elastic yet descriptive.

"Senator Fulbright Must Be Making Another Statement!"

David Lawrence Says

Senator Byrd Will Leave Demos; To Be Independent

WASHINGTON — The prestige of the Democratic party in Virginia got a severe blow when Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., announced that he was leaving the party and would run for re-election only as an independent. It has implications for other southern states.

The Byrd family is one of the oldest in Virginia. The Senator's father was governor of his state 1926-1930, and served in the United States Senate from 1933 to his death in 1965. He was hailed during those years as one of the most progressive men in public office.

The present senator has been active in politics for many years, and was elected six times to the Virginia State Senate before coming to the United States Senate in 1965. He is up for re-election this year.

Senator Byrd has been asked repeatedly by Republican leaders — including, it is said, President Nixon — to join the Republican party. But he is reluctant to do so because he believes his father would not have wished him to become a Republican. He feels that he should instead be an independent. He mentions that fact that the late Senator George Norris of Nebraska switched from Republican to independent, conducting his campaign in that way, and won another six-year term without belonging to either political party.

One of the reasons why Senator Byrd has left the Democratic party is because of the "loyalty oath" recently insisted upon by the Democratic State Central Committee, which is said to be dominated by the "Liberals" and "Moderates." The oath requires every party candidate to pledge himself to support the Democratic nominee for the presidency in future elections. In Virginia, this is a risky proposition because nowadays many citizens of that state who vote for Democrats for local office prefer to vote the Republican ticket for members of Congress and for the presidency.

Senator Byrd is anticipating a three-way race in November with the Democrats nominating a "Liberal." He is hopeful that the Republicans will perhaps put up only a token candidate. It has been said that his record in the Senate shows he has given President Nixon even better support than Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Republican leader.

The Republican party has gotten new life in Virginia. Last year it elected a governor for the first time since "reconstruction" days, and Senator Byrd is hoping that, even though he runs as an independent, he will get Republican help. The Republicans have not commented on the possibility of supporting his election, and the chances are they will have a candidate of their own. But this will not necessarily mean a defeat for Senator Byrd, who is expected to receive substantial aid not only from Republicans and independents but from Democrats on the conservative side.

The Democratic party is in trouble in the South as well as in the border states. The large vote given Wallace in the 1968 election shows that the Democratic party can no longer count on these states in a presidential election. President Nixon won a substantial number of votes in the South by adopting what is called a "southern strategy," and it is significant that the combined vote for Wallace and Nixon left the Democratic ticket in third place in a number of the southern states.

This leaves many a Democratic senator in the south wondering what his future will be. Most of them have popular backing, but do not involve themselves very much in the national campaign for the presidency, preferring to stick to local questions. Most of the Democratic senators from the South have given President Nixon considerable assistance on several issues of paramount importance in Congress. This meets with the approval of the people of their respective states. Republican leaders in the Senate and House maintain a friendly relationship with southern members of Congress who are Democrats.

It may well be wondered how long this paradoxical situation can be continued by Democratic nominees for Congress who would like, of course, also to receive help from the national headquarters of their party. The truth of the matter is that the Republican party is gaining ground in the South. While Senator Byrd has proclaimed himself an independent, and is hesitant to become a Republican, there are cases like that of Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who switched to the Republican party and yet maintains a very influential position in Congress for his state.

Kennedy's Spirits on Rise

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

BOSTON (NEA) — The notable thing about Sen. Edward M. Kennedy these days is the vast improvement in his spirits. He is much like the cheerful, adventurous Kennedy I followed for three hectic days in Alaska just a year ago.

No one in his camp nor any seasoned Democratic leader in Massachusetts has any doubt that he will win re-election to the U.S. Senate this fall by a handsome margin — despite the Chappaquiddick incident of 1969 and the presence of an attractive Republican opponent, Josiah Spaulding.

Watching Kennedy in two St. Patrick's Day parades and accompanying side events in South Boston and Lawrence, one could only conclude that thousands upon thousands of ordinary folk in this state have forgiven him his acknowledged serious mistakes in last year's tragic accident. They seem ready to give him a resounding vote of confidence.

The forgivers include especially the middle-aged women who sometimes are the harshest critics of episodes where women are involved. A young woman secretary, Mary Jo Kopechne, died last July while riding with Kennedy late one night as he accidentally drove off an old wooden bridge.

At St. Mary's auditorium in Lawrence, I saw a determined middle-aged woman grab him hard and kiss him on the cheek as he milled among tired paraders. It happened on other occasions and sometimes a woman's tight grip caused him to wince from the pain in his long-damaged back.

That day at St. Mark's he was introduced as "our wonderful, respected senator," and the warm response which followed was typical of the friendly greetings he got along two parade routes. There was no visible hostility and no critical placard could be seen anywhere.

I talked twice with Kennedy privately, once in his office high above downtown Boston and overlooking its sprawling harbor. I found him much more resilient than in November, though even then his spirits were plainly on the mend.

There is a sense that Chappaquiddick is behind him — never to be forgotten but no longer that gravely crippling thing it was for many months last year.

The rumor going around here is that the transcript of the January hearings into Chappaquiddick, though offering much fresh detail, adds nothing to the severe self-indictment Kennedy asserted last July in acknowledging confused negligence in the aftermath of the fatal accident.

I am convinced he wants that transcript, now lodged in a Boston court safe, released to the public once it is clear no further legal proceedings will flow from the hearings. Such proceedings against the senator himself are not likely.

Though things today are so much better for him, that does not mean there are any presidential thoughts about 1972 or even 1976. He is not taking easy re-election here for granted, either.

The night before the big St. Patrick's Day parade in South Boston, he held an important strategy meeting with key advisers in his lofty Boston office. There had been others in February and December. Kennedy's brother-in-law, Stephen Smith of New York, a top expert, attended only the first session.

Probably he cannot come close to matching his 1.4 million vote margin of 1964, when he was helped mightily by Sen. Barry Goldwater's weakness as a GOP presidential nominee, by sympathy for himself as the victim of a broken back, and by sympathy for his assassinated brother, John.

But he wants to surpass his 1962 margin of 250,000 and his ability to do that will be the real gauge on his recovery from Chappaquiddick in a state with a steadily rising number of independent voters.

Kennedy's adversary, Spaulding, a 47-year-old lawyer and former state GOP official, professes great confidence and is laboring hard. Strongly appealing as a candidate, he might do surprisingly well. But the odds run heavily with the much-restored Ted Kennedy.

Joint Chiefs Hope to Bomb Enemy Sanctuaries in Cambodia

WASHINGTON — The Joint Chiefs of Staff are secretly reviewing the bombing campaigns in Vietnam and Laos in anticipation of a possible request from the new Cambodian government for U.S. air support to help drive North Vietnamese troops out of Cambodia.

Under the code name "Steel Tiger," U.S. planes have been blasting the infiltration routes that run through Laos. The Joint Chiefs would like to extend these attacks to the North Vietnamese sanctuaries in Cambodia.

A separate bombing campaign, code-named "Darrel Roll," has also been hammering the North Vietnamese build-up in northeastern Laos.

This is really a transplant of the air war that was formerly waged against North Vietnam. After the bombing was halted, the pilots were sworn to secrecy and their sorties were rerouted across the border over communist-controlled areas of Laos.

Planes from the "Barrel Roll" campaign might now be diverted to strike communist targets in Cambodia if the sanction of the new government can be obtained.

Note: President Nixon, however, has no wish to increase America: involvement in Southeast Asia. He wanted prefer to negotiate and agreement guaranteeing the political neutralization of both Cambodia and Laos.

More Benign Neglect

President Nixon apparently would like to apply White House aide Pat Moynihan's doctrine of "benign neglect" to the nation's largest and most liberal city.

A visitor from New York City got an unexpected glimpse into the President's thinking at a recent White House prayer breakfast presided over by evangelist Billy Graham.

"I'm from that wild metropolis, New York City," the visitor said laughingly as he was introduced to Nixon.

"Oh yes, New York," replied the President, also smiling. "Let it die. Billy taught me to let it die and not to worry about it.

Hands Off Policy

President Nixon intends to do his utmost to elect a Republican Congres in November, but he has issued strict instructions to subordinates to keep their noser out of the primaries.

The orders went out on March 13 in White House memo, signed by chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, declaring: "It is a firm Administration policy that no one within the Administration is to participate in any manner in any of the upcoming Republican primary contests.

"This would include verbal endorsements and/or letters sent to primary candidates. Please be sure that you and all the members of your staff observe this policy during the upcoming months."

Pension Frauds

Low-paid workers, who look forward to pensions to make their retirement years a little easier, have only one chance in 10 of getting a red penny from their companies.

This is the finding of famed pension consultant Mario E. Impellizeri, who has submitted his documented evidence to a House subcommittee headed by Rep. John Dent, D-Pa.

As Dent has dug deeper and deeper into the financial muck of some private pension funds, he has struck the hard opposition of giant firms which control the funds.

Impellizeri's grim testimony, obtained in advance by this column, shows why Dent is being pressured by the larded lords of industry to back away from his defense of the poor.

My study of ten pension plans covering 60,000 low-paid workers in the New York City area discloses that less than 10 per cent will ever receive a pension or pension benefit, "Impellizeri will tell the Dent subcommittee.

Reason: In the shifting 70s, a worker may labor only a few years for a company, then move on. Meanwhile, the pension benefits which were won by his union as part of a wage package remain — if the employees are lucky — in the pension fund.

The unreleased testimony cites case after case where companies have dipped into pension funds for corporate purposes.

Impellizeri will tell of "a Texas trailer manufacturer who borrowed heavily from an employee fund just before he went bankrupt.

"In Chicago, the company-appointed trustee of Brasco Manufacturing Co., put $250,000 or 60 per cent of the company pension fund's total assets, into Brasco's preferred stock." The stock proved worthless and the fund's total assets shrivelled to $13,500.

Impellizeri will also testify: "Approximately 85 per cent of the employees covered by private pensions, about 28 million workers, participate in single-employer plans which limit benefits to those who work long periods for the one employer."

The pension expert will warn that perhaps 70 per cent of the total 33 million workers in private pension funds will never see a pension check."

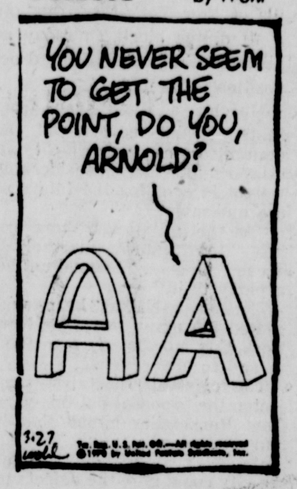

Impellizeri, in a passionate demand for reform, will urge that pension funds be required to give a break to the poorer workers who may not be able to stay with companies for a long length of time. This could be done, he will say, by making sure that funds are in "trust" for all the participants — and for no other use.

Apathy Gap

The General Services Administration, in announcing a new information center in Pittsburgh, has confirmed in a press release what many newsmen suspected all along.

"The Information Center staff will include people who have strong feelings of APATHY and understanding for the problems of others."

Du Berrier's Revelations

Former French intelligence officer Hilaire du Berrier, traveling to California for the purpose, has uncovered ramifications in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

In Oregon Senator Kennedy had entered a Jewish Synagogue, put on a yarmulke and stated to the congregation that America should go to war, if necessary, to defend Israel.

Du Berrier finds this episode decisive in Senator Kennedy's ghastly June 5, 1968, assassination in Los Angeles a few days afterward.

Du Berrier's French intelligence duties in Algeria, Paris and Switzerland make him an experienced and respected hand in (and within) Arab assassination organizations. This familiarity also includes investigations here after 52 professors at M.I.T., Brandeis, Boston and Harvard Universities signed a manifesto supporting the Algerian terrorists and encouraging desertions from the French Army.

There are many Arab groups dedicated to pan-Islamic activity, such as Jamiat-al-Islam. The name is Turkish for Organization of Islam. But du Berrier's specialty is Arab terrorists, and I first saw such operations firsthand in Switzerland.

The French ruled Algeria for 132 years. More than 500,000 Europeans left when the new revolutionary government took over. A fanatical revolutionary named Ben Khedda, who gave the American Embassy in Bern a good deal of trouble, became Prime Minister.

He was a competent crook with a long horse face, close-set eyes and a strained smile like a Texas river, a mile wide and an inch deep. He designated one Abdelhafid Boussouf to expand abroad the terrorist groups. The purpose was, and remains, what the Arabs call "Sira'a" — the historic struggle — against Israel and all things Jewish. The method was, and remains, to excite young, unknown and expendable Arabs into the actual assassinations.

Boussouf achieved the expansion in Europe chiefly through Lakdar Bentobbsl, the Minister of Interior (police), a ferocious egotist and savage assassin, the Himmler of the Algerian government, and Mahmoud Kemisti, the General Secretary of the Algerian Moslems' Student Union. A third was one Ben Boulaid. Aside from something to scratch matches on, this stooge was handy other ways. Boulaid served all over Europe as a bagman.

Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser supplied Boulaid with 3,500 British pounds sterling through the Egyptian consulate in Bengazi. Boulaid went to Bern. There he secretly met with the selected Arabs to deliver the first token payment for their work. An East German Communist, Winifried Muller, alias Si Mustapha ben Ali, was smuggled to the meeting.

Boulaid used negotiator Omar Oussedik and other intermediaries to hide the money sources from the Swiss authorities and even from the Swiss banks themselves and in this way opened accounts totalling an initial $20 million. He deposited around $2 million every 10 days in Basel, Zurich and Geneva.

When this was discovered by French and American intelligence in a really outstanding coup, the French National Assembly's subcommittee on Arab terrorism heard secret testimony by du Berrier and other French intelligence officers. The subcommittee found that terrorist cabals were using Albania's port of Balona to transport arms bought in Egypt, were in charge of 49 aircraft cached in Libya and commanded rocket-launching pads on the Algerian coast opposite Marseilles.

French Deputy Pascal Arrighi (Corsica) sponsored a total global surveillance of all Arab cabals and, if possible, infiltration into each by French intelligence.

Sen. Robert Kennedy was killed by young Moslem Sirhan Beshara Sirhan and, of course, a great deal has been written about conspiracy, Arab affiliations, etc. Jordan even claimed him as one of its heroes. But Hilaire du Berrier's revelation is his discovery on this trip of many familiar Arab faces in Los Angeles, San Francisco and elsewhere. He found that they are in regular communication. He established that there is a money source in San Francisco.

The "Sira'a" knows no frontiers. To long-involved du Berrier it seems evident that this California setup of familiar faces could excite an expendable young Arab gunman, just as was done against Frenchmen in North Africa and Paris, although proof is impossible.

Du Berrier is convinced that it would be contrary to their nature, and all his experience with them, if they failed to employ their methods when a seemingly triumphant Senator Kennedy cast the die by what he said in the Oregon synagogue.

Service Agency Leaflet Being Compiled By New Paltz League of Women Voters

What service agencies are there in New Paltz? Concerning which problems are they prepared to help, and how can they be reached.

The answers to these questions will be provided in a new leaflet now being compiled by the Human Resources Workshop of the League of Women Voters.

Since October, the Workshop has been collecting information about organizations which offer help, how they can be contacted and what fees, if any, are involved.

Before publication of his phamplet, the Human Resources Workshop needs the help of interested citizens in New Paltz.

If you belong to an organization which offers help in New Paltz — public, private or Church connected — the Workshop committee would appreciate it if this information is given to them. This may be done by contacting Mrs. Morris Kirk, New Paltz, in the morning, or Mrs. Ignaceo Mendez, New Paltz, evenings. A questionaire will be sent to the agency so that the information included will be as up-to-date and accurate as possible. Publication of this leaflet is planned for mid-May.

Tiny Tips

Rule to remember: fill cake pans only half full.

Pineapple fritters are great with meat entrees. Drain pineapple slices and dip into prepared pancake batter. Fry until golden and serve topped with currant jelly.

Since bacon shrinks considerably owing to its high proportion of fat, it should be cooked slowly over moderate heat.

Instant skim milk powder makes it possible to get more milk into your meals in an economical and convenient way. It may also be added to various foods not usually made with milk to increase the food value.

Bowling Party Planned

The Junior National Conference of Synagogue Youth, ages seven to 12, will hold a bowling party at Mid - City Lanes on Monday, March 30 at 1 p.m.

BIG TIME SLEEVERY

What party tricks have you got up your sleeve? Subtle season by season style changes come to light in the sleeve and shoulder shape. Show off your fashion savvy by the smoothness of your set-in and gracefully gathered fabric billowing out of a very deep, buttoned cuff. For little evenings, use fancy sleevery on a slender dress (Simplicity 8361.)

A sleeve is a set-in, is a raglan, is a kimono. The one with the now look is the "set-in," meaning that it is cut in a separate piece and seamed into the armhole of the garment body. The setting in must be perfectly done. According to Coats & Clark, three basic conditions make it so. First, corresponding points on the sleeve and armhole must be matched exactly. Second, ease in the sleeve cap must be uniformly distributed. Third, stitching around the armhole must be be done evenly, with the correct seam allowance maintained.

— THE PERFECT SET-IN —

Before seaming the sleeve underarm, ease-stitch (10 to the inch) between notches on the seamline of the sleeve cap. To control fullness, make another line of stitching within the seam allowance, ⅛" from the first. Leave your thread ends long. Stitch the underarm seam, press it open, and finish the bottom of the sleeve.

Turn your garment wrong side out and place the sleeve in the armhole, right sides together. Pin them, matching corresponding points: underarm seams, notches and shoulder seams to dot on sleeve cap. Put a pin ½" to each side of the shoulder seam. This important one inch at the top of the sleeve cap is grain-straight and has no ease. To fit the sleeve to the armhole, gently draw up the threads between the notches and these two poins. Evenly distribute the ease and secure the threads on the wrong side.

Now, remove the sleeve and with care, place the cap, right side out, on the end of an ironing board or, better yet, a pressing ham. Steam press with the point of the iron to smooth out the fullness. Pin the sleeve back into the armhole as precisely as before, adding more pins between the matching points. Stitch with the sleeve side up, beginning at the underarm seam. Make a second line of stitching ¼" from the first, within the seam allowance. Between the notches at the underarm, trim away the allowance close to the stitching. Trim the remaining allowance to ¼". Without opening your seam, press the stitching line and turn the seam toward the sleeve by hand . . . And the dress lived happily ever after, with two perfectly beautiful set--in sleeve.

Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club of Kingston held its first meeting of the new year on March 23, at the home of Mrs. Adam H. Porter, 134 St. James Street. The president, Mrs. John Pope, presided.

Program chairman, Mrs. Alexander Goercke, introduced Miss Frances Osterhoudt, who reviewed the book by Helen W. Reynolds entitled "Dutch Houses in the Hudson Valley Prior to 1770," with emphasis on homes in Albany, Dutchess and Ulster Counties. This book discusses the construction of these homes and the manner in which the residents lived in them. Special emphasis was given to homes in the Kingston area, which area was originally called Wiltwyck. Many generations of Miss Osterhoudt's family resided in one of these homes and pictures of this house were displayed.

The hostess, Mrs. Porter, then re-read an informative paper on the "Department of State."

Delegate Named

Mrs. Elsie Nicklaus was elected delegate to the annual Rebekah Assembly to be held in New York City in May, at the Wednesday, March 18 meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge which took place at Bearsville. Proxy delegate is Mrs. Olive Shultis.

After the business meeting at which Mrs. Elsie Ross, noble grand, presided, an easter sale was held. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Walendah Cashdollar and Mrs. Theresa Grazier.

Past noble grands will be entertained at the Wednesday, Apr. 1 meeting and all members are urged to attend. Past noble grands are reminded of the district meeting scheduled for Saturday, Apr. 4 at Vineyard Rebekah Lodge in Highland.

Mini-Travelogue

A mini-travelogue about a mini-people living on mini-islands in the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Panama will be given to the Study Club of New Paltz by Mr. and Mrs. W. Brittin Boice on Tuesday, April 7 at the Joseph Deyo Room of the Savings Bank. The informal talk will take place after the Club's annual business meeting which is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Though the San Blas Indians are notoriously camera-shy, Mrs. Boice was able to obtain some good pictures and has supplemented his with others. The suspicious San-Blas have begun to deduce that their souls are not under the command of one who catches their images on film. This belief is just one of the strange ideas of this unusual tribe.

Spring Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service, Hudson North District, will hold its annual Spring Meeting at Stamford United Methodist Church Thursday, April 16. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., after which a coffee time, business meeting and luncheon will take place.

The afternoon session will be led by the Rev. Charles W. Lee of Bellemore United Methodist Church whose theme will be "Divided Against Ourselves." All Methodist women are urged to attend this day of fellowship, worship and learning. A nursery will be provided.

Doing the Right Thing

USE INSURANCE POLICY

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in agreement with your comments about apologizing for damage you have done to someone else's property, but I should like to add that nearly all home owners have "Home Owner Insurance" — and I'm not in the insurance business.

A few years ago I knocked over a glass of red wine at a friend's house which soiled her tablecloth and carpet. She said "Please don't worry, I'm sure you have insurance to cover the damage." I phoned my broker and in a few days my insurance company paid the bill to clean her tablecloth and clean her entire wall-to-wall carpet. Since then, a friend burned a hole in my carpet I asked her to phone her insurance broker. The bill was only $12.50, but her insurance paid for the repair and they did a perfect weaving job. Why not use the insurance coverage that we home owners pay for? — Mrs. Hagen

Dear Mrs. Hagen: There is absolutely no reason not to use the insurance you pay for. Insurance policies vary greatly, but it is true that many contain a liability clause covering damage that the holder does to other people's property. Therefore, your suggestion is excellent. It should certainly be mentioned here that in addition to making an apology, the person who inadvertantly damages another's property should immediatley consult his insurance broker or agent to find whether his particular policy will cover it.

IT'S HAPPY EASTER TIME — As traditional as the blooming lilies at the local florist shops, is Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rabbit's whole brood of 10-weeks-old little ones at the Horn of Plenty Fruit Stand on Route 9-W, Lake Katrine, a reminder to visitors that "quick like a bunny" the Easter holiday with all the joys and blessings of the season will soon be arriving. Knicks Take Bullets in Double Overtime

NEW YORK (UPI)—The fabled "New York Syndrome" is beginning to signs of wear to Baltimore followers. It could crack tonight.

It hasn't collapsed as far as the Knicks are concerned, but three times Thursday night defeat was just an instant away. The Knicks were extended to two overtime periods before they could edge the Bullets, 120-117, in the opener of the Eastern Division playoff series.

The teams meet in Baltimore tonight for the second game in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoffs. Last year, New York swept the Bullets four straight in a first round match-up. The Mets and Jets have also beaten Baltimore teams for championships.

Willis Reed's hook shot with 31 seconds remaining in the second extra session Thursday night broke a 117-all tie for the Eastern champions.

The Knicks were too tired after the game to do much more than voice their appreciation of the magnificent defense put up by the Bullets.

They all admired the courage of Kevin Loughery, playing with four fresh scars that covered surgery for the repair of four fractured ribs and a punctured lung. An aluminum corset protected the Bullet guard.

Then the Knicks pointed to Reed, who required a shot of cortisone to kill the pain in his injured knee. Reed scored 30 points for New York.

"You can't discount that Baltimore defense," Reed said. "They played better against us tonight than they have in the last dozen games."

Baltimore coach Gene Shue said, "Everything points to a long series. We got off to a slow start and the Knicks were hot at the beginning of the season. But how about the finish!"

The final 11 minutes of play were frenetic. The Knicks tied the game at 102-all in regulation time on Bill Bradley's basket with 24 seconds remaining. They overcame a three-point deficit in the final minute of the first overtime session when Dick Barnett sank two foul shots and Dave DeBusschere added a free throw to deadlock the game agair at 110-110.

New York had an opportunity to win it in the final second when Barnett stole the ball and went in for a layup. He missed. Coach Red Holzman claimed Fred Carter should have been charged with goal-tending on the play, but referee Mendy Rudolph ignored the protest.

Carter, with 21 points, and Earl Monroe, scoring a game-high 39 points, repeatedly penetrated the Knicks' defense.

"That Monroe is just fantastic," recalled Frazier. "Some of the shots were made without his even seeing the basket."

The Bullets went on offense with three guards in the final overtime session when Loughery came on court.

"Unlike Philadelphia's attempt at the three guards system against Milwaukee Wednesday night, we had both the speed and height to put against the Knicks," Shue explained "Gus Johnson (6-6) and Wes Unseld (6-7 1-2) are two of the best rebounders for their size in the league."

Unseld gathered 31 rebounds and Johnson 10 during the game. This board work was matched by DeBusschere's 24 rebounds and Reed's 21.

In the only other NBA playoff action tonight, Milwaukee again hosts Philadelphia at Dane County Coliseum in Madison, Wis. Lew Alcindor scored 36 points and drew down 20 rebounds for the Bucks in Milwaukee's 125-118 opening game victory.

In the Western Division, champion Atlanta hosts Chicago Saturday night and the second place Los Angeles entertains Phoenix Sunday. The Hawks and Lakers won their playoff openers.

Maravich Signs With Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—It seemed only fitting that the most prolific college scorer in basketball history should become the game's highest paid professional.

That's the way Pete Maravich's attorneys saw it when they announced Thursday night that the LSU All-America had signed a lucrative five-year contract with the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association.

MILLION DOLLAR SMILE! — "Pistol" Pete Maravich (C) highest scoring basketball player in college history has signed a contract with the Atlanta Hawks. It is a reported five year contract expected to bring $1.5 million dollars. Maravich in town to attend the Atlanta Tipoff Club banquet shown with his father-coach Press Maravich (R) and Hawks Treasurer Tom Cousins. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The only figures that were actually mentioned were those offered by young Maravich when he quipped, "I'm getting $85 a week plus a pick, shovel and a tractor."

But his attorneys indicated, under intense questioning, that the contract was in the $1.5 to $2 million range and even at the lower end of that—$300,000 a year—Pistol Pete would be getting more than any other U.S. athlete.

Satified With Contract

"Pete Maravich is probably the greatest basketball player in the history of the game and we're satisfied that if he is, then this contract reflects it," said attorney Lester Zittrain after announcing that Pete had chosen the Hawks over the Carolina Cougars of the rival American Basketball Association.

Both teams drafted the 45 points-per-game star with the floppy hair and the floppy socks and the Cougars had indicated they thought Maravich was theirs until the Hawks picked him as their first-round choice in a surprise move in the NBA draft this past Monday.

"No matter what anybody else might have said, it was always my decision and I wanted to wait to compare my offers from the NBA and the ABA before coming to any final decisions," Maravich said.

Likes Atlanta

"I've always liked the city of Atlanta and I also liked the Hawks," he continued. "The Hawks play as a team and I like that. I won't have to do as much as I did when I was in college."

Pete was supposed to be in Atlanta to accept the Atlanta Tipoff Club's Naismith Trophy as the United Press International college basketball player of the year. But it turned out to be the Hawks' night instead.

"There's always room for talent on this team," said Hawks coach Richie Guerin who has Lou Hudson and Walt Hazzard as his starting guards at present.

"There are always injuries and other problems," Guerin continud. "Anyway, we never play anyone the full 48 minutes anyhow.

"Pete's shooting has been exaggerated," said Guerin. "This guy can do a lot of other things. We're looking forward to having him with us. We didn't have any type of player in mind when we went into the draft. We just wanted to get the best player available and, frankly, I was surprised to find him still around when we picked."

Atlanta got Maravich because the Hawks got to pick third in the first round thanks to acquiring San Francisco's draft choice in a deal involving Zelmo Beatty who is playing in the ABA with Los Angeles.

"What a sweet deal that's turned out to be," Guerin said with a grin.

Maravich was asked whether he thought he could break into the Hawks' lineup as a rookie next season.

Crack Lineup

"I've been playing for 18 years and I haven't sat on the bench yet," Pete retorted. "I think with a team like this I can contribute with my ball-handling and passing."

Although best known for his record scoring, Maravich led the Southeastern Conference in assists this past season.

His scoring was phenominal. He averaged 43.8 ppg as a sophomore, 44.2 ppg as a junior and 46.6 ppg during the regular season as a senior while running up a total of 3,667 points during his college career. No other major college player ever reached the 3,000 mark.

Young Maravich's attorneys met most of Wednesday night with Hawks owner Tom Cousins, then spent an hour Thursday evening explaining the Hawks' and Cougars' offers to Pete when he flew in from Baton Rouge, La., for the Naismith award dinner.

Then Pete, the attorneys and Pete's father, LSU basketball coach Press Maravich, walked into an hour-late news conference and Zittrain said:

"We are most happy to announce that Pete Maravich will play professional basketball for the Atlanta Hawks..."

Papa Press wasn't surprised that Pete was to become this country's highest paid athlete. After all his son always had an eye for a buck.

"When I was coaching at Clemson, Pete took on two of my best players in a game of 21 at a dollar a game," Press recalled. "He was only nine or 10 years old at the time—but he beat them."

Tony Esposito Sets New Record

By United Press International

The Chicago Black Hawks are able to win their National Hockey League games the hard way with rookie Tony Esposito in the nets.

Esposito shattered a 16-year-old league record Thursday night with his 14th shutout of the season as the Black Hawks beat the Detroit Red wings 1-0. Pit Martin scored the only goal to move second-place Chicago to within one point of the Boston Bruins in the tight Eastern Division race.

"The shutout couldn't have come at a more opportune time," said Chicago coach Billy Reay. "Tony keeps coming up with the key saves and keeps us in there. He had a very good training camp. Then he played a poor game in the opener at St. Louis. I threw him right back in there and he's been going strong ever since."

Esposito wound up with 35 saves in recording the shutout to smash the modern record he had shared with Harry Lumley of Toronto, who posted 13 shutouts in 1953-54. The all-time record is held by George Hainsworth with 22 shutouts during a 44-game season in 1928-29, but Esposito's total is considered the modern record.

Esposito, brother of Boston's Phil Esposito who last season set an NHL record for most points in a single season, took the record calmly. "I didn't think about the record," he said. "In the last 10 minutes I just wanted to prevent a tie. That was a close shave. As long as we win, I'm happy."

The rest of the Black Hawks were more impressed by the performance, however.

"He won the game for us in the first period," said Eric Nesterenko. "It's as simple as that. He was the man. He's done it in a lot of games, especially in the first period."

The crowd leaped to its feet cheering on many of Esposito's saves, and in the first period he made an "impossible" stop by leaping across the goalmouth to block Frank Mahovlich's shot from seven feet.

Esposito's performance completely overshadowed Detroit goaltender Roy Edwards, who finished with 29 saves. Martin swept in and fired the puck from 10 feet in the second period, and Edwards blocked the shot. But Martin took the rebound and backhanded it over the goalie's shoulder for the score.

In the only other game Thursday night, Real Lemieux, acquired by Los Angeles in a late-season trade, slapped in a shot with one second left in the second period to give the Kings a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers. Philadelphia's players argued time had run out, but referee Vern Buffey ruled in favor of the Kings.

Lemieux' goal gave Los Angeles a 3-1 lead, which a series of sensational saves by Denis DeJordy protected until 12:17 of the third period when Andre Lacroix scored from short range. The Kings' other goal were scored by Eddie Joyal and Matt Ravlich.

Israel Asked To Withdraw

TEL AVIV (UPI)—The Israel Lawn Tennis Association declined Thursday to accept a government suggestion Israel withdraw from its Davis Cup tennis match against Rhodesia.

Association officials said the body's eight-man executive, in an extraordinary session called to consider the suggestion, unanimously agreed to take no decision pending further discussions with the foreign ministry, the government sports authority and other sports organizations.

The foreign ministry and the sports authority had suggested the executive pull Israel out of its first round European Zone Davis Cup tie in view of last months U.N. Security Council resolution calling for all U.N. member countries to sever all relations with the white minority regime in Rhodesia.

Tornado Doesn't Phase Oriole Ace

If it had been Denny McLain pitching in Miami Thursday instead of Mike Cuellar, that tornado warning which the Florida weather bureau ordered might have been accurate.

That gives you an idea how differently spring training is going for the 1969 co-winners of the American League's Cy Young Award.

Cuellar, a 23-game winner with a 2.38 ERA last season, ignored the tornado alert and breezed through his first nine-inning stint of the spring by pitching the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-2 victory over Washington, while the tornado turned out to be merely a constant drizzle.

He gave up a run in the third inning and a leadoff homer to Tom Grieve in the fourth, but limited the Senators to only seven hits while the Orioles rapped losing pitcher Dick Bosman and two relievers, George Brunet and Darold Knowles, for 10 hits.

Elrod Hendricks led the Oriole attack with a double and single to knock in three runs.

All other games in Florida were rained out: St. Louis vs. Detroit, Montreal vs. Los Angeles, New York Mets vs. Kansas City, New York Yankees vs. Atlanta, Chicago White Sox vs. Pittsburgh, Cincinnati vs. Philadelphia and Boston vs. Minnesota.

At Scottsdale, Ariz., Ron Santo drove in three runs with a homer and a single as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Oakland A's 9-2.

Ken Holtzman pitched seven innings for the Cubs and gave up only six hits and one earned run and Johnny Callison matched Santo's three RBIs with a single and a triple.

Probation for Buffalo

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Buffalo (N.Y.) State College was among five member schools placed on probation Thursday by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) for rules violations.

Buffalo State received two years' probation for failing to submit proper eligibility forms for its sponsored athletic teams and for taking part in a conflicting national event without NAIA sanction.

The school played host to and won the NCAA's East Regional College Division basketball tournament earlier this month and went to the national finals. The NCAA events coincide with the NAIA regionals and nationals.

The probation takes effect April 1 and makes the college ineligible to participate in NAIA tourneys, award programs and statistical service.

A Buffalo State spokesman said the announcement did not come as a complete surprise.

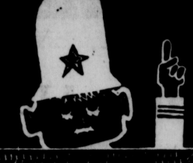

The other colleges placed on probation, for differing infractions, were Tampa, Tennessee A&I, Boise (Idaho) State and the Calumet (Ind.) campus of Purdue University.

The NAIA also reprimanded 13 other schools for what it called laxity in complying with eligibility requirements.

WINNING FORM — Pacer Laverne Hanover is shown in winning form last year at Monticello Raceway. The top-flight pacer is driven by trainer-driver Billy Haughton. Laverne Hanover is listed as a favorite in the Excelsior Stakes. The Mighty M opens on April 30.

Top Stars Are Ready For Mighty M Stakes

MONTICELLO — With a total of 36 pacers and trotters remaining eligible to Monticello Raceway's Excelsior Stakes, number eight, for four-year-olds, pacer Laverne Hanover and trotter Dayan head an impressive list of hopefuls.

Laverne Hanover, owned by Tom Murphy Jr., of New York, trained and driven by Bill Haughton, heads the 15 pacers remaining eligible to the F. E. Devlin Challenge Cup, scheduled for the Fourth of July at the Mighty M.

Trotting counterpart Dayan, owned by the Adonis Stable, Hempstead and trained and frequently driven by Fred Bradbury, leads the list of 21 trotters who have made the final March 15 payment.

Both horses have the distinction of having set Monticello Raceway track records. Laverne Hanover set the track's two-year-old pacing record at 2:01.1 while winning a division of the Excelsior Stakes in 1968, while Dayan set a track record of 2:02 for three-year-old trotters, winning 1969 Excelsior action.

Among those to be facing Laverne Hanover in the pacing division are such worthy opponents as Dandy Dancer and Hammerin' Hank from the George Sholty barn, the Canadian trio of Super Wave, Penn Hanover and Santa's Fury. Also set are such outstanding colt stars as Tempered Yankee, Shiaway Adios and Going Thru, a local favorite who is a graduate of the Mighty M's juvenile program.

Expected to be answering the call to the post for the Founder's Cup Trot, scheduled for June 20 are such outstanding trotters as Gun Runner, The Prophet, Diller's Fleur, Nardin's Gayblade, Pridewood, Sparkling Molly and Uncle Horace.

Mayor in Training For Jets' Contest

By JIM MASSA

KINGSTON — Promoter Chill Caruso announced today that Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig is in training, in Florida and will be in the starting line-up for the college all-star squad playing against the New York Jets basketball team making an appearance at the Municipal Auditorium on Wednesday, April 8.

Siena Star

Koenig was a star at Siena and played under the late Dan Cunha. "I can't think of a more knowledgeable person in his field and will always be deeply indebted for what he taught me," said Koenig, about Cunha. "It is a rewarding experience just to have known the man."

We don't know just what it took to get Koenig out of retirement, but many people have tried before with no success. Caruso didn't give any contract particulars other than that the Mayor had agreed to participate. Koenig had been a top notch ball player throughout the Hudson Valley and was chosen to many tournament all-star teams.

Played for Steuzle

George Steuzle, the notable Pine Plains Bombardier basketball promoter acquired the services of Koenig on many occasions. Koenig was also a member of many Kingston powerhouse clubs such as Ray's Tackle Shop, Byrne Chevrolet and etc.

Koenig, was advised by his doctor to retire due to a back injury, which was approximately 12 years ago.

Joining on the college all-star team are: Jerry Moss—All region XV pick and Mid-Hudson conference most valuable player from Ulster CCC, Glenn Berry—All Mid-Hudson team pick and Region XV Tournament from Ulster.

Ed Strong, former Sullivan CC star, who has just completed two years of stardom at St. Peter's will strengthen the all-star squad. Caruso is in the process of acquiring commitments from several tri-city college stars.

The Jets will have Gerry Philbin all-league defensive end (who is no newcomer to this city), John Schmidt—all-league center, Dave Herman — all-league offensive guard, defensive tackle Ralph Baker, and running back Emerson Boozer.

Maroon Team Set Records

By JIM MASSA

KINGSTON — Kingston High School's swim team set new scoring records, both in team and individual categories this season. Coach Ron Gabriele released the final scoring this week, for the DUSO league champions.

The Maroons set a new record in wins, achieving eight this year as to a previous high of six in a season. A new team point total for a single season was set at 542, surpassing the old mark of 530.

Mike O'Hara, a junior, led the individual scoring with a new single season record of 102 points. The old mark of 96 was held by Charles Plunkett and John Brinnier. O'Hara averaged better than nine points per meet this season. Who knows he may even top that one next year.

Fred Robinson another junior placed second in the Maroon scoring with 93 points. "Robinson is a top notch swimmer and along with the four other juniors returning next season we'll be tough again," said Gabriele. "Fred is also a tremendous help ir getting the team up for meets as he generates great enthusiasm and gives them self confidence."

Murray Sets Four-Year Record

The backbone or "bread and butter" man of the team for the past few years in the Maroon line-up placed third this season in scoring with 87 points. However, Craig Murray who was a threat to set a new record every time he entered into the water won time and time again, against top competition. Murray set a new four-year total of 322 points. The old mark was held by Charles Plunkett at 254. Murray also set a new record in four-year first place total with 58, surpassing Gene Gruner's 45 total set through 1965-69.

The Maroons will have 10 of its 15 point scorers returning next season and they represent 78 per cent or in points (423) of this year's championship team's scoring.

Members of the Maroons that did not score points during the season were: Mike Arnold, Mike Kwasnowski, Charles Lang, Gary Littlefield, Bruce McCrindle, Kim Nicholas, Harold Pine, Kent St. John, Richard Stuven and team manager Brian Whalen.

"Can you imagine the results we could get if we had a regulation size pool for our boys, instead of the 13 yard relic we are forced to use at the YMCA," said Gabriele. "No pun intended to the Y, as if it weren't for their cooperation we might not even have a swim team."

Point scorers for this year:

BACK TO THE BONEYARD — The chances of Seattle having a major league baseball team this year became almost as thin as this character sitting on the pitcher's mound at Sicks Stadium after court action virtually paved the way for the transfer of the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Seattle Officials Hanged in Effigy

SEATTLE (UPI)—With legal formalities for transfer of the Seattle Pilots to Milwaukee all but completed, the city's latest baseball action was in the effigy department.

Max and Dewey Soriano, leading officials of the sinking Pilots, were hanged in effigy in a downtown mall Wednesday night.

A six-foot effigy with a sign reading "Thanks Max and Dewey" was found dangling from a ramp leading to a monorail terminal.

Max Soriano is secretary-treasurer of the Pilots and a part owner and brother Dewey is president. William Daley of Cleveland is the majority stockholder.

Dewey testified in a court hearing last week stockholders in the club would make about $1 million profit from the sale of the club to Milwaukee interests.

The way for the sale is expected to be cleared Monday when Sidney C. Volinn, federal bankruptcy court referee, considers the merits of a bankruptcy case brought by the Pilots management, Pacific Northwest Sports, inc.

Although attorneys for the city and state have filed an anti-trust suit, they were reconciled to the fact Volinn will rule for the sale of the club to the Milwaukee Brewers who have made an offer of $10.8 million for the franchise.

Testimony before the bankuptcy court earlier this week indicated the club was losing $12,500 a day by staying in business here and Max Soriano said it would be a "catastrophe" if the club remained here.

League President Joe Cronin is known to have the necessary nine votes of club owners to affect the transfer.

Everything Except Lights

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

A little rain, a little snow, a little thunder and no lights for some 600 Ulster County residents. That was lion-like March's pre-Easter present for the area last night.

The weather mix dumped an inch of snow at Belleayre and four tenths of an inch of rain at Cooper Lake. High winds and periodically heavy rains downed tree limbs in the Rondout Valley knocking out two key transmission lines. Lights were out in Stone Ridge, High Falls, Tillson, Accord and Kerhonkson areas intermittently from 8 p.m. Thursday to 3 a.m. today.

The first thunderstorm of the spring bounced in at the height of the storm. Lightning caused a fire at a Hyde Park dwelling.

Although there may be snow on the mountain this morning, there are robins on the lawn and other evidences of budding spring are coming through on schedule. Still bare trees are showing colors of rebirth and violets in secluded shelters are bright green after their winter under the snow.

Thunderstorms in spring portend a return to colder weather according to old timers' tales. They would appear to be right if today is any indication. The landscape with a fresh washed look after last night's storm, cooled down this morning to the mid-30's. Tonight's temperatures are due to hit the 20's and tomorrow will be clear and coolish.

If the long range forecasters are right, milady's Easter bonnet should have ear muffs and a built-in bumbershoot. Predictions for Sunday call for cold and cloudy with chance of rain.

NEW TWIST — The rites of Spring took a new twist in Woodstock Thursday. While thousands of other youngsters across the nation were heading to points south for Easter vacation campouts and beachouts, Woodstock teenagers from the town's Youth Center aided by ecology minded members of the hippie culture, swept winter-accumulated refuse out of town. In a spontaneous cleanup, the kids consigned newspapers and other rubbish to cans, swept down the streets, and even picked up around the local cemetery. Later, they took up a collection to purchase new garbage cans to replace rubbish baskets recently removed by the town fathers. Here a group of youngsters work to make the Village Green spic and span. London Faces 45 Years or More

KINGSTON

In less than 20 minutes Thursday afternoon, a County Court jury brought in a verdict of guilty on nine narcotic counts which could mean up to 45 or more years in prison for Willie James London of New Paltz.

London was committed to Ulster County Jail to await sentencing by County Judge Raymond J. Mino who will pronounce sentence seven days after a report is received from the Probation Department.

The verdict was a significant victory for First Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt in view of the fact that London has been on trial four times previously on the same and similar counts with two declared mistrials and two ending with hung juries.

During the present trial, London, who was defended by Noel Tepper, former counsel to Dr. Timothy Leary, was charged with nine counts of possession and selling of narcotics in Kingston and New Paltz in December of 1968.

Chief witness for the prosecution was an undercover agent for the state police, Santo Ledestri, who posed as a "hippie" type and associated with London and others in the area drug world in order to secure evidence.

Ledestri testified that he had had three "transactions" with London, the first of which involved the sale of four decks of heroin in a parking lot on the Strand in Kingston. Two subsequent sales of marijuana, heroin and cocaine took place in New Paltz.

Tepper, in his defense attempted to prove that there was "reasonable doubt" concerning London's being guilty.

The trial began Monday with the selection of a jury, and ended Thursday with summations in the morning and the judge's charge and jury deliberation in the afternoon. The case attracted a number of spectators including friends of London's.

During a previous trial which began just one week before the last one, London was granted a mistrial when he changed from a court-assigned counsel to private counsel. Judge Mino ruled at that time to grant the mistrial because the substitution of lawyers might prove prejudicial to London.

One week later a new jury of seven women and five men was selected.

Diversify Ownership of Media—FCC Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Communications Commission has taken two major actions—one immediately effective and one subejct to further consideration—to diversify the ownership of broadcasting stations.

1. Effective at once, companies buying existing stations or wanting to build new ones would generally be limited to owning either one AM radio station, one FM radio station or one VHF-TV station. One owner now can have all three kinds of stations in one city. There would be some exceptions to the new rule, and it would not now disturb existing multiple ownerships.

The FCC said its immediate new rule was "designed to prevent undue influence of local public opinion by relatively few persons or groups."

It was adopted 4 to 2 with the seventh member, Chairman Dean Burch, agreeing in part and dissenting in part. The new rule will apply to all applications for ownership transfers and construction permits filed since April 3, 1968.

2. Even more sweeping was a proposal advanced by the FCC that, if finally adopted, would break up existing common ownerships of radio and TV stations in the same city and would force newspapers to sell the broadcasting properties that they own in many cities. Ownership of several billion dollars worth of stations would be subject to change.

The proposal was advanced by the FCC by a 5 to 1 vote, with Burch again concurring in part and dissenting in part. The proposal is expected to be the subject of further proceedings for some years before it is adopted, modified or withdrawn.

In its present form, the FCC said, the proposal would "require present owners, within a period of five years, to reduce their holdings to an AM-FM combination, a television station, or newspaper ownership in the same market."

The commission said that because of the increased amount of broadcast service available, it is no longer necessary to permit licensing of combined operations on one market to serve the public interest.

By unofficial estimate, 127 television stations in the top 50 markets with a value of $3 billion and 526 radio stations worth almost $500 million could be affected if the proposal is adopted.

Woodstock Boy Critically Hurt In Crash at Route 28-375 Area

WOODSTOCK

A 14-year old Woodstock youth was in critical condition at Benedictine Hospital this morning after the pickup truck he was driving failed to negotiate the turn at the junction of Rt. 28 and Rt. 375 in Woodstock and slammed into a concrete abutment.

Jeffrey Elliott, 14, son of Clifford Elliott of 36 Overlook Drive, Woodstock, is in Benedictine Hospital with severe head and chest injuries.

Kingston State Police reported that the elder Elliott had reported his pickup truck missing late last night. Police spotted the truck around 1 a.m. this morning on Rt. 28, driven by the younger Elliott.

The truck went out of control and knocked down three gas pumps and hit a concrete abutment. State police, under the command of Sgt. Richard Dempsey extinguished the fire from the gas pumps at Seaman's Service Station.

Doctor's Ambulance took Elliott to the hospital. West Hurley Rescue Squad was also at the scene.

In another Woodstock accident, Woodstock Constable William Waterous reported that William Weigel, 29, of 22 Yerry Hill Road, Woodstock, was injured in an accident on Rt. 212 at 10:20 last night. Weige' was taken to Kingston Hospital with head and chest injuries. The accident is still under investigation.

Lloyd Gibson Jr. of Woodstock was arrested for driving while intoxicated last night by Kingston State Police. He was arraigned before Woodstock Justice James Myers and let out on $25 bail for an appearance on April 8.

A NEW DART FOR NEARLY $400 LESS.
THAT'S WHAT I CALL A WINDFALL!

To be exact, Sheriff, it's $378.15 off the sticker price on this Dodge Dart. Here's how the Dodge Boys did it. First, the sticker price has been reduced on all Dart models. (On our Dart Swinger hardtop, this price reduction* amounts to $187.)

Then the Dodge Boys came up with a specially equipped Swinger that includes the automatic transmission at no extra cost. It's called the Dart Swinger Automatic. And it also includes a vinyl roof, whitewalls, carpeting, and more. Add the savings of the automatic transmission ($191 on V8, $175 on Six), and you come up with a total price reduction of $362 to $378. Makes this 6-passenger Dart America's biggest compact value by far.

The Dodge Boys are driving down your cost of driving in style.

THE DODGE BOYS

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price, standard Swinger 2-door hardtop. Price excludes state and local taxes, destination charges, optional equipment required by state law, and dealer preparation charges, if any. Reduction includes replacement of fiber-glass-belted tires by polyester-cord, and elimination of day/night rearview mirror as standard equipment.

Soviet Maneuvering For Sea Base Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visit to Algeria by the Soviet Union's top admiral has raised the possibility the Russians are negotiating for use of a major base in the western Mediterranean.

Admiral S. F. G. Gorshkov's appearance in Algiers follows statements by U.S. admirals in Congress that the Russians appear to be seeking additional Mediterranean ports.

The Soviet navy, which currently has one of its largest forces ever in the Mediterranean, already has access to port facilities in Egypt and Syria. Like these two nations, Algeria considers itself a friend of the Soviet Union.

Use of the Mers-el-Kebir port near Oran would free the Soviet navy from reliance on at sea resupply and give them a refit and maintainence base in the western Mediterranean, simular to facilities available to them in the eastern area of the sea.

The Pentagon reported Thursday the Russian fleet in the Mediterranean increased over the past week by about 30 per cent.

About 60 surface warships, submarines and support vessels are now in the Mediterranean—the largest number in about seven months, officials said.

They read no special meaning into the development, discounting the likelihood it is connected with the current high tensions in the Israeli-Egyptian crisis.

The Soviets, once only a small presence in the vital Mediterranean, have just about matched the size of the U.S. 6th Fleet there.

About half the Soviet warships mount surface-to-surface or antiaircraft guided missiles, the Pentagon said.

For the first time, the Soviet have sent both of their helicopter carriers, the Moskva and the Leningrad, into the Mediterranean. These are regarded basically as antisubmarine vessels.

The Moskva, Russia's first carrier, is cruising in the central Mediterranean and the Leningrad in the area near Greece.

The Pentagon also reported four of the vessels were flying the flags of Soviet admirals, an unusual number of senior Russian officers in that region. The Pentagon said "We have no explanations to offer for their presence."

Big Mouth is coming to town.

Ban Heavy Truck Loads on Three Roads

TOWN OF KINGSTON — Control of three Town of Kingston roads by limiting traffic in a program to avoid winter damage was announced in a recent public notice affective immediately.

The notice lists bans of truck loads with a gross weight of more than four tons on Hill Road, Jocky Hill Road and Wintergreen Hill Road. The notice said that major reduction in maintenance costs can be realized by limiting traffic on these roads during early spring thaws. The intent of this is to enforce such limits without being unfair to the users and property owners involved.

The roads will be posted with signs noting the order.

Occasional pickup and delivery service such as fuel oil, package delivery or garbage pickup will be excluded from this order due to infrequent usage and the essential nature of the services. All other heavy vehicles will require a permit issued by the town clerk, E. W. Seche Jr. A bond of $200 must be posted to cover any ensuing damage to the road, when the permit is issued. Permits cover a period of seven days or less.

The town superintendent of highways will inspect the road used after expiration of each permit. In the event of damage to the road the $200 bond will be held until final determination is made at a special or regular Town Board meeting.

The Town Board believes the order will save these roads from damage at a time when the underbed is soft following a thaw.

The order will be in effect each year starting Jan. 1 through April 30. The constables of the town are being ordered to patrol these roads to enforce the order.

Penalties for violation of the order are $10 fine for first offense; second and subsequent offenses $50 fine for each such violation.

GAMS HAVE IT — At a demonstration sponsored by Girls Against More Skirt (GAMS) near Detroit's Fisher Building, Librarian Cheryl Brode willingly allows her midi-skirt to be cut to a mini as part of the protest activities. The girls, who want the mini-skirt to remain in fashion, are protesting the midi-skirt length. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee...
It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we-pay-half-you-pay-half deals."

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.

OUR AFFILIATION WITH A TOP TRADING AREA ALLOWS US TO BRING TO ULSTER COUNTY A VERY HIGH CALIBRE BRAND OF MERCHANDISE AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

We also guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevys, Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens).

So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

May Be Premature

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My father is very ill and we do not expect him to live more than a couple of months longer.

I have a pretty navy blue suit. It has a straight skirt, and there are little gold buttons on the jacket. I plan to wear that to the funeral. I do not have anything suitable in black. My friends say that navy blue is not appropriate for a funeral. Do you think I should go out and buy a black outfit just for the funeral?

Also, I plan to wear a string of pearls at the viewing and also at the funeral. The pearls are a gift from my father and I am very proud of them. My friends say that jewelry is not appropriate. I would like your opinion.

ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Any dark dress or suit would be appropriate. And if, for sentimental reasons, you want to wear the pearls, wear them. In the meantime, don't spend too much time fretting about the outfit for your father's funeral. He may live.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 and Ron is 29. He's intelligent, handsome, successful, and could get married tomorrow if he wanted to.

We have practically gone steady for a year now, but get this, he doesn't want to even talk about marriage. He says he loves me, and I know I love him, but he says he doesn't know of one good marriage, and he's not about to spoil our "perfect romance" by marrying me. Have you ever heard of anything so ridiculous?

We have everything in common and get along beautifully. He tells me I'm free to date others, but I don't care to. Far as I know, I'm the only girl he dates. How can I get him to marry me? I'll do anything!

WANTS RON

DEAR WANTS: Ron is trying to tell you that he can't think of one good reason to marry YOU. And unless you can come up with one that makes sense to him, you'd better look elsewhere or content yourself with a "perfect romance," because from the way I read Ron, that's all he's going to offer you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I am wrong for feeling put out when I drop in on some people for a little conversation and company and they turn the television on right in my face?

If I wanted to look at television, I could have stayed home and watched my own. Wouldn't you think people would have better manners? What is the matter with some folks anyhow?

PUT OUT

DEAR "PUT:" The "matter with some folks" is that they don't view situations the same as other folks. It is also possible that unexpected "conversation and company" may not be as fascinating to a surprised host as the television program he may have planned to watch.

In other words, a "drop in" type guest would not feel put out if he'd call first.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that if first cousins marry, their children will be crazy? The reason I want to know is because I am in love with my first cousin, and I have heard that this is true. In fact, I have even heard that it is AGAINST the law for first cousins to marry. Can you help me to get the facts? How about first cousins marrying if they promise not to have any children?

COUSIN LOVER

DEAR LOVER: In SOME states, it is against the law to marry one's first cousin. Ask a clergyman, or lawyer what the laws are in your state. Children of first cousins need not necessarily be "crazy" unless a hereditary-type insanity existed in the family and the children inherited it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Ca. 90069.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SUPERIOR SUE: (Q.) I have a girl friend and her name is Sue. We say that we are the best of friends, but I really dislike her very much. She is so conceited.

She's always saying she hasn't got a thing to wear. I just wisn I had half the clothes she has. She says the boys look at her all the time. If I tell her I got 35 on my test she has to top it, so she says she got 90.

She thinks she's great. I am not jealous and I really want to be her friend. But it's not easy. Please tell me what to do about her.—Sue's Friend (So-Called) in Philadelphia.

(A.) When we get close to people, we almost always see things in them that we like as well as dislike. The things we like draw us closer to them. The things we dislike annoy us.

One way to avoid that annoyance is never get that close to people. This solution leaves a person lonely and unhappy.

Another way is to drop people who annoy you. This solution has its drawbacks, because you end up going interminably from one friendship to another.

The third way is to see that most people's good points outweigh the bad ones. This is the best solution.

NO SWEEPER: (Q.) I love maxi coats. My parents say maxi coats are more like street sweepers than coats. I told them I wanted one, anyway. They said no. What can I do?—A Maxi Girl in Michigan.

(A.) Midi-length coats are turning out to be even more popular than maxis. They are calf length and don't sweep the streets.

Perhaps you and your parents can compromise on a midi!

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY MARCH, 28, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Plan ahead. Check details which may be associated with vacation. Important to become familiar with various procedures, techniques. Study your paper for important hints.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You gain insight through mutual efforts. Some of your activity should be geared toward change. Financial matters, estates, taxes should be left to experts you trust.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Diplomacy is a must today. Let others express themselves. Applies especially to mate or business partner. Play a sort of waiting game. But be observant. Prepare rather than take direct action.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some of your associates may make demands which seem to lack practicality. Go along—to a certain extent. But insist on knowing reasons. Be analytical. Pull together diverse forces.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with creative activity, romance, closing of eneration gap. You can get solid agreement based on your personal appeal. Display showmanship.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Home base is accented. What you seek is where you are — this will become strikingly clear. Older individual may want to impart information concerning property values — listen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Spotlight on brothers, sisters, other close relatives. Realize it may be harder to be a good guest than a host. Participate. Flatter. Build ego of one who recently suffered setback.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Emphasis on money and how to increase potential. Inaugurate program which enables you to have fun but also to save for proverbial rainy day. Some cliches are based on truth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle continues high. You get chance for greater self-expression, more travel. Social activity increases. You are rewarded for doing what comes naturally.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be careful where apparently minor details are concerned. Utilize full powers of observation. You could make discovery which elevates prestige; saves money.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Relations with opposite sex apt to be intensified. Fun social evening indicated. Get together with Sagittarius individual. Result could be pleasure and profit.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may be surprised by extra or overtime assignment. Be sure family member understands. Be diplomatic — express love. Throw off any ideas of revenge.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are original, independent, a natural leader. Many are at first put off by what appears to be a domineering attitude. Know this and strive to exude more friendliness. Forces are scattered now, but recent move was right thing to do.

New Daytime Serial on NBC

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC will launch on Monday a new daytime serial called "Another World—Somerset." This must not be confused with NBC's most popular soap opera, "Another World—Bay City," which until today was just plain "Another World."

It is hard enough to keep the titles of daytime serials straight because none seems to give any clue about content. Now "Another World" is about to divide like a one-cell Paramecium.

"Another World—Somerset" is one type of what television calls a spin-off. This one will relate in various ways to the established serial, including exchanges of characters and, occasionally, interwoven story lines.

This type of program reproduction is hardly new. When "Peyton Place" was at its popularity peak on ABC as a nighttime serial, CBS spun its "As the World Turns" off into a new, prime-time serial simply by having the heroine of the daytime soap opera, Lisa Hughes, go to a distant city to make a new life. The show did not do well, and it was only a matter of weeks before Lisa decided she liked life better in dear old daytime Oakdale.

"Green Acres," when launched several seasons back on CBS, was a sort of double spin-off. Creator Paul Henning had a hit by putting country folk in sophisticated city surroundings — "Beverly Hillbillies"—so he put the very urban family of "Green Acres" into a country setting. He also made them neighbors of his "Petticoat Junction" family, using some supporting characters in both shows and having the principals visiting back and forth.

The device is designed to help the new shows attract audiences. By making "Another World" two serials, NBC obviously hopes the old audience for one show will stick around for the second.

Meanwhile, ABC will introduce on Monday two new soap opera, one of them called "A World Apart"—not to be confused with "As the World Turns," or "Another World."

Experimentation with form will continue with some programs next season. NBC started last season by building "The Name of the Game" around three characters connected by the same publishing empire. This season it put together three different series under one title, "The Bold Ones."

Next season, NBC plans something called "Four-in-One," simply four short serials, one following the other.

The young expert was holding forth to a rapt audience. The usual talk by an expert, whether young, middle-aged or old, is about his triumphs. This talk was quite different.

It went, "I have been telling the Student that his idol, the Professor, is too old to hold his own in tough competition anymore. One of my points was that the Professor has always played very fast and that, at his age, fast play must lead to mistakes. It did this time, but the mistake it led to was mine.

"The Professor sat East and dropped the jack of clubs on his partner's ace. His partner continued with the six and the Professor played the trey. I cashed dummy's ace and king of spades in order to discard a diamond, ruffed a spade, ruffed a club in dummy and noted the play of the five from West and the rather clumsy false-card of the 10 from the Professor."

"What was clumsy about it?" someone asked.

"Because I knew he still held the nine and it looked as if he hoped I wouldn't be that smart. Then I ran off all my trumps to wind up with the ace-queen of diamonds in dummy. The Professor discarded the 10 of diamonds first and spades from then on the whole situation appeared clear as crystal.

"The Professor was still expert enough to see the squeeze developing and had tried two standard tactics to fool me. The first was the club falsecard. The second was the quick discard of the diamond 10. I led a diamond and went right up with dummy's ace and dropped the Professor's five-spot.

"The crystal had turned out to be the muddiest kind of mud."

Escapees Captured; Women Hostages Safe

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Three young prisoners who escaped from a Cleveland jail with two women hostages were captured Thursday night after a wild seven-hour chase through two states.

Thomes E. Thomas, 20, and James Sykes, 22, both federal prisoners from Mississippi, and David Lee Carpenter, 19, of Lakewood, Ohio, were recaptured when the police cruiser they stole blew a tire while trying to make a U-turn at a roadblock on Interstate Highway 75 near Lexington.

No one was injured in the chase that began at 4:30 p.m. in Cleveland.

The bizarre race began when Thomas and Sykes went to the chapel on the 10th floor of the Cuyahoga County Jail on the pretext of wanting to pray. Carpenter was nearby.

George Zeitlow, an organist at the service conducted every Thursday by a Christian Science group, said Thomas drew a small pistol and the other two youths pulled knives.

Zietlow said the prisoners grabbed Mrs. Dellaria and Mrs. Honor, two Christian Scientists in their late 50s, and two women prisoners, and started to make their way out of the jail.

With weapons drawn, police and deputy sheriffs watched helplessly as the three prisoners and the older women entered the cruiser and drove off. The two women prisoners were left behind.

The escape car headed south on Interstate 71, followed by 17 police cruisers filled with city and state patrolmen and sheriff's deputies, and two police helicopters.

The procession, reaching speeds of up to 90 miles per hour, made a brief detour when the fugitives stopped to rob a gasoline station just off the highway south of Cleveland.

The fugitives drove through Columbus, through Cincinnati and then headed into Kentucky. Hundreds of policemen stood along the route taken by the fugitives but, acting on orders of the FBI, made no attempt to stop the escape cruiser.

Kentucky State Police set up a roadblock north of here and when the fugitives arrived, troopers tried to force them up on a weighing station ramp. The fugitives, in attempting to make a U-turn, struck the medial strip, blowing a tire. More than 50 law enforcement officers, some of them carrying submachine guns, surrounded the fugitives and dragged them from their automobiles.

Mrs. Dellaria called the police chase "fast and furious."

"All during the ride we sat and prayed," she said. "We were told that if we didn't cooperate with them there was going to be bloodshed."

Carswell Nomination...Much Confusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate maneuvering over the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell has created a tangle of confusing cross-currents, with opposing sides agreeing only that the vote will be close.

Oregon's two Republican senators joined the opposition ranks Thursday and one of them, Mark O. Hatfield, sent a letter to President Nixon urging him to withdraw the nomination of the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., federal judge.

Hatfield said he would vote to send the nomination back to the Senate Judiciary Committee. But his colleague, Robert W. Packwood, said he was "less than enthusiastic" about this move, even though he intends to vote against Carswell's confirmation.

A motion to return the nomination to the Judiciary Committee, which approved it originally by a 13-4 vote, has been proposed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., as an indirect way of trying to kill or force the withdrawal of Carswell's appointment.

The vote on the motion is set for April 6. If it fails a direct vote on the nomination itself will follow April 8.

Some senators looked on Bayh's move as an admission of weakness by opponents, an acknowlegement they don't have the votes to defeat Carswell on a straight-out vote as they did Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., Nixon's first choice for the court post.

But Bayh said the recommittal motion will give the Senate a chance "to express deep reservations of concern about the nominee to the President."

If the Senate approves, he said, it would be saying in effect to Nixon "find us another man on whom most of us can readily agree."

However, Vermont's George D. Aiken, dean of the Senate's Republicans, said "that's ducking the issue." He added he has not decided how to vote on confirmation if the recommittal move fails.

Backers of the motion also picked up their first support from the ranks of Southern Democrats when Sen. J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas told the Senate Thursday he would vote for recommittal.

Fulbright said additional questions have been raised about Carswell since the judicial committee approved the nomination and the panel should take a new look.

Hatfield said in his letter, Carswell's name "has become a symbol of the dispair, distrust, and dissillusionment that beguiles our admonitions to work peacefully within our democratic institutions."

Packwood said he would vote against confirmation because "there are too many examples in both the private and public life of Judge Carswell which show insensivity and disregard for basic human rights."

Hatfield's and Packwood's announcements brought to six the number of Republican senators on record against Carswell.

Twenty-seven Democrats have taken a public stand against confirmation. Forty senators are on record in support of the nomination.

President Nixon was reported standing firmly behind Carswell and Senate GOP leaders maintained that, barring further erosion among supporters, Bayh's recommittal motion will be defeated and the nomination will be confirmed.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., who sponsored Carswell's appointment, said while the vote will be close "our head count shows we have the votes for confirmation."

He said the real issue is "union bosses, civil rights leaders and liberal senators do not want a Southerner and especially a Southern conservative to sit on the Supreme Court."

Phnom Penh Airport...Sudden Closing

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The government closed Phnom Penh Airport today, blocking any plans homebound Viet Cong and North Vietnamese diplomats had of leaving Cambodia by air, and announced its troops have crushed a demonstration in support of ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

No reason was given for closing the airport, a move identical to the closure of the facility last week before and after the ouster of Sihanouk as chief of state by Gen. Lon Nol, an anti-Communist.

Trying to take ground transportation to either North Vietnam or into South Vietnam would prove risky for the Communist diplomats. Going through Laos to the north they would be vulnerable to bombing. Going by road into the south would mean they could be trailed to their headquarters there.

Government spokesmen said troops loyal to Nol crushed a demonstration Thursday by youths who stormed and sacked the courthouse and governor's mansion in the city of Kompong Cham, 75 miles northeast of Phnom Penh near the border with South Vietnam.

The youths seized trucks and attempted to move on Phnom Penh, the announcement said, but troops moved in and broke up the column, making dozens of arrests. The government spokesman said the youths had been "maneuvered" into demonstrating by Viet Cong soldiers in the area.

The road to Kompong Cham was closed this morning and the army said the incident Thursday had been "intended to show international opinion that the Cambodian people are rising against the saviour government.

The government appealed for the population to remain calm and ignore Viet Cong propaganda.

The Kompong Cham outbreak was the first violence reported in support of Sihanouk, who said in a broadcast from Peking this morning that he was joining forces with the Pathet Lao in Laos and the Viet Cong in Vietnam to "engage in guerilla warfare in the jungle against our enemies."

Liberation Radio, the Viet Cong outlet, declared simultaneously that it "warmly hails and actively supports" Sihanouk's plan to overthrow the Lon Nol regime with a "liberation army."

An Accidental Bombing...12 Hurt

SAIGON (UPI)—An American B52 accidentally bombed a populated area along the Cambodian border Thursday, wounding 12 Vietnamese civilians and damaging two houses, the U.S. Command said today.

"A number of bombs . . . impacted outside the target area," a military spokesman said in describing the accident four miles north of the Mekong Delta town of Tri Ton, 120 miles west-southwest of Saigon.

Three of the villagers were seriously injured and military spokesmen said the incident was under investigation.

Tri Ton is at the base of the Seven Sisters Mountains astride the Cambodian border. They have been used all through the war as a Viet Cong sanctuary, earning the nickname "million dollar knoll" for the amount spent to bomb them.

It was the second accident in the war zone in 24 hours.

An 81mm mortar round exploded in its tube at a U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment post three miles from the Cambodian border, 75 miles west-northwest of Saigon, shortly before midnight Wednesday night, killing three GIs and wounding four others.

In ground fighting, U.S. forces killed 36 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Thursday and early today in battles that ranged from the northern provinces to the Cambodian border region north of Saigon. American casualties were reported at three killed and 36 wounded.

In a seven-hour battle between U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops and guerrillas 76 miles northwest of Saigon, were wounded. Guerrilla losses were not determined.

A guerrilla rocket and grenade attack 19 miles southwest of Da Nang killed a U.S. Marine and wounded 12 others and a bombardment of a military dependent camp 105 miles east-northeast of Saigon killed a child and seven other military dependents, spokesmen said.

Col. Crowley... 'Well Treated'

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—Lt. Col. Donald J. Crowley said he was well treated by his kidnapers but declined today to give the details of his 55 hours under death threat.

The American diplomat, released Thursday in exchange for 20 political prisoners who were flown to exile in Mexico, said in a telephone conversation his captors guarded him "assiduously" in a house whose location he did not know.

Crowley was freed on a downtown street Thursday and taken by police to the Mexican Embassy under an arrangement worked out between the government and terrorists. The prisonsrs left for Mexico shortly after he turned up. When they got there, he was free to go.

He was still clad in his polo outfit when released and said he "smelled like a dead polo pony." Before bathing and shaving at the Mexican Embassy, he telephoned his wife to inquire about their four children.

"I am fine but I am dying to see you and the children," his wife, Nancy, quoted him. She said he told her the "waiting was anguishing."

He was the third U.S. diplomat kidnaped in South America since September.

The score of freed Dominicans included Maximiliano Gomez, secretary general of one of the Dominican Republic's Communist parties.

They were accompanied aboard a chartered Pan American Airways Boeing 727 by the archbishop of Santo Domingo, Msgr. Hugo Eduardo Brito Polance.

Crowley left the Mexican Embassy for the U.S. Embassy after Brito Polance telephoned to Santo Domingo that his charges had arrived safely after the 2,000-mile flight.

The exiles, who were lodged in Del Bosque Hotel where 10 Brazilians and Guatemalans freed in similar kidnapings were staying, vowed to return to the Dominican Republic to combat the government of President Joaquin Balaguer.

Douse Car Fire

Kingston firemen responded to a car fire at 15 O'Neil Street this morning at 7:28. The car was owned by Mrs. Anna Speedling of 131 O'Neil Street. Blowback from a carburetor caused the fire resulting in damage to the wiring and blistering of the paint on the hood. Firemen, who returned to quarters at 7:44 a.m., were under the command of Deputy Chief Robert Maines.

Kopechne Case...Panel Revived

BOSTON (UPI)—The Dukes County grand jury reconvenes April 6 in the century-old Courthouse on Martha's Vineyard to decide if further criminal charges should be filed against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the accident which killed Mary Jo Kopechne.

Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro of the Massachusetts Superior Court, acting on a request from District Attorney Edmund S. Dinis, revived the panel Thursday.

The 23 jurors will assemble in the same Courthouse where District Court Judge James A. Boyle conducted a secret four-day inquest in January into the death of the 28-year-old secretary. Boyle's report and the transcript of the testimony have been impounded.

Dinis asked the grand jury to reconvene at the request of its foreman, Leslie H. Leland, a Vineyard Haven druggist.

"I feel that the grand jury had a duty and a responsibility to fulfill and therefore this is what we are doing by requesting this," Leland said. "I think the people have a right to know the answers."

Miss Kopechne died the night of July 18 when Kennedy's 1968 black sedan wheeled off an unguarded bridge and overturned in a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island off Martha's Vineyard.

A week later Kennedy pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and Boyle pronounced a suspended two-month sentence. The senator's driver's license was suspended for a year by the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

The grand jury will hold secret sessions and hear the case of the prosecution. It will determine whether enough evidence exists to indict Kennedy or any of the other participants involved. It has the power to subpoena witnesses.

A high legal sources said it was not clear whether the jury could examine the results of the inquest conducted into Miss Kopechne's death. Earlier this week, Leland formally requested permission to examine the transcript of the secret proceedings.
